"Hello..."

"When you answer the telephone and announce the name of our organization," said the company president to his staff, "you are our company."

"You are the only person in our organization the caller may ever meet. If your voice does not communicate warmth, helpfulness, and cordiality, that person will have a negative view of who we are. Please remember," he pleaded, "that when you speak, you speak for all of us."

The company president's logic (and reality) applies to every area of life. When we speak, whether on telephone or in person, people not only judge who we are but also who we represent by what we say and HOW we say it.

I know one chief executive officer of a company who always calls prospective employees at home "just to hear their daily, unguarded telephone manners. It is a test they must pass to become part of our organization," he says.

HOW we speak and WHAT we say reveals not only WHO we are, but who we represent.

Paul puts it this way: "Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel. . ." (Phil. 1:27)

WE DO NOT HAVE "TELEPHONITUS"

Did you ever notice how quickly you get through when you have called our pharmacy? It's not by accident. We know that an emergency prescription call can come at any time so it is our policy to keep telephone conversations as brief as possible.

Of course, we are still courteous and friendly for that too is an important part of our policy. But, if we ever seem to get off the phone a little more quickly than you thought we would, please remember the reason why. If you have never called us why don't you give it a try soon?

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?"

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

DO-IT-YOURSELF GODS

June 8, 1986

Background Scripture: Jeremiah 2 through 6.
Devotional Reading: Jeremiah 5:1-5.

"For my people have committed two evils," God said through Jeremiah, "they have forsaken me, the fountain of living waters, and hewed out cisterns for themselves, broken cisterns, that can hold no water" (2:13).

It was not the first nor the last time God would make this complaint about his people. In fact, it seems to be a continuous thread throughout all history. Having joined together in covenant with the Lord in a time of need, the people of Israel managed to forget that relationship when they no longer seemed to need it.

WHAT WRONG?

The relationship, the Lord says, to Jeremiah, was like that of a marriage, solemn vows taken by both parties, not for a while, but forever. "I remember the devotion of your youth," says the Lord, "your love as a bride, how you followed me in the wilderness..." (2:2). Since those early days, however, Israel has proven unfaithful and broken her vows. "What wrong did your fathers find in me that they went far from me...?" he wants to know.

Not only has Israel broken her vows to the Lord like an unfaithful wife, but she has also conducted herself like a prostitute, flitting from lover to lover and compounding her shame and dishonor. The "lovers" were, of course, the Baals, the exotic gods of the Canaanites that made no moral demands upon their worshippers. Worshipping one of these Baals was a lot easier and certainly more exciting.

Things really have not changed all that much in the three thousand years since Jeremiah received this message from God. We still look to God to help us when we are in one of those "wildernesses" that come to us in life. We have no hesitancy about pledging ourselves to God and his service in the days of our need. But, when we have arrived in our own "promised land" and left the "wilderness" far behind, that is when we find the Baals of this world considerably less exacting and more "fun".

THE GODS YOU MADE

Of course, one can pass all too quickly from the "promised land" to the "wilderness" again. Very quickly we can be calling once again, "Arise and save us!" And that is when God says to us, as he did to the people of Israel through Jeremiah, "But where are your gods that you made for yourself? Let them arise, if they can save you in your time of trouble" (2:27,28).

More perhaps than even the Israelites of Jeremiah's time we are enamoured with the do-it-yourself gods that we fashion with our own hands. These shiny, glittering things we make, will they, can they save us in our time of trouble?

Insight Into Education

The last in a series of articles this school year on the Garrett County Public Schools is written by Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Superintendent of Schools. The intent of the article is to generally acquaint individuals who might be interested in serving as school board members with the duties and responsibilities of this office.

Beginning January 1, 1982, the Garrett County Board of Education changed from a Board of Education appointed by the governor to one that was elected by the residents of Garrett County. A subsequent election in November 1984 completed making the Board of Education a fully elected public body. Three Board members are to be elected this November, one from each of the county commissioner districts.

In accordance with the law establishing an elected Board of Education, Garrett County residents interested in running for the Board of Education must file with the Board of Election supervisors for Garrett County not later than 9:00 p.m. on the Monday which is 70 days before the day on which the primary election is held. This makes the filing date for running in the November 1986 election Monday, June 30, 1986.

Qualifications for prospective candidates are: (1) the candidate must be a resident of the County Commissioner district in which he/she is running; (2) the candidate must be a registered voter in the county; (3) a board member from a commissioner district who no longer resides in that district may not continue as a member of the county board; and (4) individuals subject to the authority of the Board of Education may not be candidates. Individuals elected in November 1986 will serve a four-year term beginning January 1, 1987.

Also effective January 1, 1987, is the change to the current law concerning payment to Board members for compensation, travel and expenses. Effective January 1, 1987, each Board member is entitled to receive as compensation $200 for each regularly scheduled meeting attended not to exceed 12 meetings each year. In addition, each member of the Board of Education is entitled to receive $200 annually for travel and other expenses.

The Board of Education, by law, is charged with the following duties:

1. To carry out the provisions of the bylaws, rules, regulations and policies of the State Board of Education;
2. Maintain in the county a reasonably uniform system of public schools designed to provide quality education and equal educational opportunity to all children;
3. Determine, with the advice of the county superintendent, the educational policies of the county school system; and
4. Adopt, codify and make available to the public bylaws, rules and regulations for the conduct and management of the public schools.

Board members, in carrying-out these duties, expend considerable time. For example, in the calendar year 1985 the Board of Education met formally 22 times. Twelve of these meetings represented the regularly scheduled monthly meetings and the duration of these meetings varied from a low of four hours in length to a high of nine hours and ten minutes in length. The average duration of the twelve meetings was six hours.

Regularly scheduled monthly meetings begin at 10:00 a.m. with the executive session, followed by the public session beginning at 1:00 p.m. Additional informal work sessions are also held, usually to discuss labor-related issues.

In discussing the topic of Board service with the current Board of Education members it was emphasized that the time requirement is considerable. Not only are there numerous long meetings, but board members noted that to do their job most effectively required frequent visits to schools both while in session and at after-school activities. Somewhat related to this point is the fact that Board members are essentially on call to the public seven days per week.

Another point concerning time noted by Board members had to do with their preparation for meetings in that agenda items are numerous and complex and require considerable preparation time to review. Lastly, Board members noted the delicate differentiation between the policy-making role played by Board members and the administrative tasks which are a responsibility of the staff of the Board of Education. Oftentimes, it was pointed out, the general public has difficulty in understanding the difference in these roles.

In conclusion, members of the Board of Education should carry out their duties and responsibilities with their primary goal being that of best serving youngsters. If a Board of Education member can carry out his/her duties in this fashion a place on the Board of Education can represent a very satisfying experience for any citizen of this county.

Conservation Corps And Consortium Employ 30 Garrett County Youth

The Maryland Conservation Corps of the State Department of Natural Resources, Tidewater Administration, and the Garrett County Office of the Western Maryland Consortium announced they have joined forces in an effort to employ approximately 30 area youth on conservation projects in the Savage River and Potomac State Forests this summer. The projects are within the Potomac River watershed and are a part of the state's efforts to preserve and improve the quality of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries. Work on the projects began this week.

The Maryland Conservation Corps (MCC) was established in 1984 as one of 11 Chesapeake Bay Initiatives enacted that year by the Maryland General Assembly. A unique program that weds two of Maryland's most valuable resources, its youth and the Chesapeake Bay, Maryland legislators saw the MCC as an opportunity to provide productive employment for the state's youth, involve them with career and vocational education, and teach them a conservation ethic while they work to restore the quality of the Bay and its tributaries.

"The Maryland Conservation Corps," states MCC Director, Jon Underwood, "is pleased to once again serve Western Maryland with this exciting state program blending environmental awareness with invaluable work experience for over 700 Maryland youth statewide, including the 30 we will employ in Garrett County this summer."

The Garrett County Office of the Western Maryland Consortium, which administers the federal employment and jobs training program under the Jobs Training Partnership Act in western Maryland, is working with the MCC in this effort. The Consortium has recently hired the 30 young men and women whose wages will be using federal monies allocated to the county under Jobs Training Partnership Act, Older Youth Training Program.

Sue Shockey, with the Western Maryland Consortium said, "We are very pleased with the cooperation from the state's Maryland Conservation Corps which has permitted us to stretch our limited federal dollars with state funding covering program costs other than participant's wages, including transportation, equipment, materials and administration. Last year's participants in the MCC program came away with a real sense of accomplishment, and we anticipate similar results again this summer."

Eve Edwards, also with the Western Maryland Consortium, coordinates the Summer Employment program for Garrett County.

Delegate George Edwards, when asked to comment, stated, "The MCC is a unique state program combining youth employment opportunities while performing valuable public service in the form of conservation projects which enhance our natural environment."

The 30 summer program employees in Garrett County are between 18 and 21 years of age, and will be working for the next 10 weeks on three projects, two in the Savage River State Forest and the other in the Potomac State Forest. In Savage, the Corps will be stabilizing a newly constructed access road into the Middle Fork watershed. The work will involve erosion control measures including drainage work such as culvert installation and seeding. The other Savage River project involves stream and trail maintenance along the Poplar Lick tributary. In Potomac State Forest the Corps will be repairing a series of fire trails which were damaged in the heavy rains last November.

The projects were recommended to MCC by Warren Groves, Forest Manager for the Savage River State Forest, and by Joe Mechem, with the Potomac State Forest.

In addition to their conservation work, the 30 summer employees will receive each week an hour and half of instruction on job readiness skills such as how to find a job, how to prepare a resume, and what to expect in a job interview. Weekly instruction is also provided in the area of environmental education.

Governor Hughes Signs Liability Insurance Reform

Governor Harry Hughes signed into law Tuesday a legislative package designed to provide a Maryland solution to the liability insurance crisis facing the State and nation.

Joined by House Speaker Benjamin L. Cardin and Senate President Melvin A Steinberg, the Governor signed Administration bills—including a cap on noneconomic damages in personal injury cases—that are intended to clamp down on the skyrocketing cost of such insurance.

"The liability insurance crisis impacts not only on doctors, lawyers and insurers," Hughes said, "but affects the entire fabric of society."

He said, "The crisis has affected the ability of local governments to provide public services, the capacity of day care centers to open their doors to needy parents, the ability of charitable organizations to provide volunteer services, and the opportunity for small businesses to maintain a livelihood."

The measures sponsored by the Governor and signed today will:

—impose a $350,000 cap on pain and suffering awards in personal injury cases, while continuing to allow full recovery for economic losses and medical expenses;

—enable public and charitable organizations to pool together to purchase casualty insurance;

—centralize all medical malpractice complaints and investigations concerning physicians with the Commission of Medical Discipline; and —amend the health claims arbitration system to require both the plaintiff and defendant to file a certificate of merit regarding their claim.

Governor Hughes said he will appoint a task force to continue studying the liability insurance problem.

"The task force will monitor actions in other states, review reports on the issue, evaluate the rate-making policies of insurance companies, and recommend additional legislation if necessary," the Governor said.

Boat Registrations Now Performed At Deep Creek Lake

Boat registrations and transfers will now be performed on a trial basis at the Deep Creek Lake Management Office located at Deep Creek Lake State Park, according to Michael Gregory, lake manager.

This service began on May 29 and will continue each Thursday and Friday (Labor Day excluded) from 8:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. through September 5. Personnel from the DNR Regional Service Center in Cumberland will be available at the Lake Management Office to handle the registrations.

It is DNR's hope that this service will make it more convenient for Deep Creek Lake users to register their boats at a location in the county rather than having to travel to Cumberland, Gregory said.

For more details concerning this new service, persons may contact the Lake Management Office at 387-4111 or the DNR Regional Service Center in Cumberland at 777-2134.

Citizen Input Needed On Youth, Children Issues

All citizens are invited to speak out on children and youth issues at a public meeting sponsored by the State Advisory Committee to the Governor's Office for Children and Youth in cooperation with Western Maryland Children's Councils. The Western Maryland meeting, the third in a series of three being held around the State, will be held on June 11 from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at Frederick High School in Frederick.

The public meeting will be a forum for parents, community leaders, elected officials, advocates for children and youth, providers of services, young people, and the public in general to express their ideas and to share information on various areas of interest including, but not limited to, child abuse, foster care, youth employment, adolescent pregnancy, child day care, youth suicide, and alcohol and drug abuse. Through this information exchange, citizens will have input on: areas of unmet program and service needs; recommendations to the Governor; and the effective implementation of recently passed legislation including the Governor's Children and Youth Initiatives.

The Western Maryland counties include: Allegany, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett, Howard, Montgomery and Washington. However, individuals from any county are welcome at this Western Maryland meeting. The earlier regional meetings were held in Baltimore and Easton.

For those unable to attend any of the meetings, written comments can be sent to the Governor's Office for Children and Youth, 301 W. Preston Street, Suite 1502, Baltimore, Maryland 21201.

The State Advisory Committee is composed of representatives from each of the local county Children's Councils and at-large members appointed by the Governor. They serve as advocates for Maryland's children and youth aged 0-18 years and advise the Governor, the legislature and the public about issues and concerns affecting youth. Joan Cobb Wilson of Montgomery County is the chairperson.

For futher information, persons may contact the Governor's Office for Children and Youth, 301/225-1290.

Major Housing Initiative Bill Signed By Hughes

Housing opportunities for low-income Marylanders and those with special needs will be enhanced under legislation signed into law Tuesday by Governor Harry Hughes, accordingto a spokesman for Hughes.

At a bill signing ceremony attended by House Speaker Benjamin L. Cardin and Senate President Melvin A. Steinberg, the Governor put his signature on measures that comprised the centerpiece of his 1986 legislation program.

"When I first presented the housing initiatives to the 1986 General Assembly, I said it was equal in importance to the effort to clean up the Chesapeake Bay and the legislative package to assist Maryland's children and youth," Hughes said.

"At a time when the federal government is reducing its commitment to housing, Maryland can be proud of the new State programs to provide affordable housing for low-income citizens and those with special needs," he added.

The total housing initiative, including the five pieces of legislation signed this week, new budget initiatives and enhancement of existing housing programs will provide approximately $40 million to meet urgent housing needs, he said.

Coupled with existing programs, the initiative will provide a complete package of State housing programs to serve the broad range of housing needs for low and moderate income Marylanders. These include:

—low-interest deferred payment loans to construct rental housing for low-income households;

—special loan and grant programs to assist nonprofit organizations in providing housing for low-income populations including the disabled, elderly, and the homeless;

—increased funding for supervised housing for the frail elderly and a doubling of the State's support for emergency shelters for the homeless;

—adoption and enforcement of State and local minimum livability codes that will establish minimum maintenance standards for housing in Maryland;

—special programs to provide funds for removal of lead paint, to install indoor plumbing in those homes that still lack it, and to allow for accessory, sheltered, and shared housing for presently under-utilized housing; and —expanded loan programs to allow more low-income citizens to purchase their own homes.

"The initiative includes new programs that represent landmark steps for Maryland in its commitment to housing. Equally important are the existing State housing programs that have been refocused to meet housing needs that have not been served in the past," the Governor said.

Mathias Announces New Procedure To Obtain Documents

Senator Charles McC. Mathias Jr., has announced that on June 2 a new method of obtaining Congressional documents will go into effect.

Beginning on that day, members of the general public may obtain one free copy of Congressional bills, reports or related documents in the Senate Document Room, B-04 in the Hart Building. At the same time, the public may purchase additional copies of documents for a modest fee of 2 to 3 cents per page.

Under the current procedure, the public is allowed three free copies of each Senate document, and one free copy of each House document at a time.

Mathias, chairman of the Joint Committee on Printing, expressed regret that "it is necessary to charge at all for publications," but explained that reductions in the Fiscal Year 1986 budget mandated by the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Deficit Reduction Act had forced the Joint Committee to take action.

"My primary concern, and that of Vice Chairman Frank Annunzio (D-Ill.), has been to protect the public's right to participate in the legislative process by having free access to Congressional information. Under this new system, every citizen will be guaranteed one free copy of every document carried by the Document Room and, at the same time we can abide by the Gramm-Rudman provisions," he pointed out.

Mathias noted that revenue generated by the new system will cover production costs at the Government Printing Office, the overhead costs of GPO personnel assigned to handle the cash registers in the Senate Document Room, and keep the costs of overall production below the levels mandated by Gramm-Rudman-Hollings legislation.

Mathias also said the under the new system, organizations will be able to purchase additional copies of documents at a lower price and at better quality than they could be reproduced on a copier.

Under a similar procedure established last March, the public still may obtain copies of committee prints and hearings from individual committees. However, the number of copies available from each committee has been reduced from 1000 to 300. Once the committee supply of each document has been exhausted, the public may purchase additional copies for a modest fee from GPO's Congressional Sales Office, North Capitol and G Streets, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20401.

He was made project manager in 1985 of the expansion projects and is currently overseeing the expansion of SCM Pigments' Stallingborough, England, chloride facility.

Governor Hughes Signs Initatives On Alzheimer's

An estimated 20,000 Marylanders who suffer from Alzheimer's Disease will benefit from legislation signed into law Tuesday by Governor Harry Hughes, according to a spokesman for Hughes.

"These measures are intended to help cushion the devastating impact that Alzheimer's Disease can have on victims and their families," the Governor said.

The bills, recommended by a task force appointed by Hughes to study the disease and related disorders, will:

–require the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene to conduct a demographic study of Alzheimer's Disease and related disorders in the state; (SB 133)

–direct health insurers to offer the option of providing benefits for the care of elderly; (SB 139)

–instruct nursing homes and sheltered homes for the elderly to provide in-service education on dementia; (HB 175)

–require geriatric assistants who work in a long-term facility to complete a course on dementia; (HB 176) and –establish a coordinating council to advise the Interagency Committee on Services to the Aging on programs relating to Alzheimer's disease and related disorders. (SJR 39/HJR 80)

Hughes noted that he included $5.6 million in the fiscal '87 budget to provide new and expanded services to Maryland's elderly population. The money will be used for a variety of programs, including expansion of the Gateway Program to every county, and enhancement of in-home aid services under the Department of Human Resources (DHR) and medical day care services under the state's Medicaid program.

Half-a-million dollars of the funding is earmarked to promote the development of adult day care centers for impaired adults, including victims of Alzheimer's Disease.

Alzheimer's Disease is a progressive, irreversible neurological disorder affecting an estimated 2.5 million Americans, including 20,000 Marylanders. Most victims are over 65.

Its symptoms include a gradual loss of memory, decline in ability to perform routine tasks, impairment of judgment, disorientation and personality change.

Local Residents Encouraged To Attend Hearing

"Citizens of Western Maryland need to turn out in mass numbers for the Congressional Field Hearing on Medicare on June 9 at 10 a.m. at Allegany Community College Auditorium, Cumberland," according to Mary Susan Straw, director of the Area Agency on Aging in Cumberland. She continued, "If the Medicare system is to be changed to a more caring, concerned but cost-effective medical insurance program for our older citizens, then our congressional representatives must see and hear the people's concern through their presence at the hearing." These feelings are shared by many Western Maryland health professionals and organizations, she said.

The field hearing is the formal process to help congressional leaders become aware of issues and concerns of their constituents. The field hearing will be conducted by the Subcommittee on Housing and Consumer Interests of the House Select Committee on Aging. The formal title of the program is "A Hearing on Medicare Payments and Quality Health Care for Rural Older Americans." The Hearing will be presided over by the Subcommittee Chairman, Don Bonker, a Congressman from the State of Washington and by Western Maryland's Congressional representative, Beverly Byron, also a Select Committee member. The Cumberland Area Health Education Center is acting as liaison between area health issues as expressed by community members and the Subcommittee on Housing and Consumer Interests of the House Select Committee on Aging.

Local caregivers who see the daily physical and mental impact of the Medicare system will be the formal presenters. The presence of Medicare health consumers, caregivers of older citizens, and future Medicare participants will give value to all that is stated at the Hearing and encourage change in the system, Straw said. Special forms will be available so all in attendance have the opportunity for written response to the Committee on issues of concern to them or those raised by the speakers. The oral and written testimony presented at the Hearing will go into the Congressional Record for use to help form and draft Medicare legislation.

Particular issues to be addressed are: 1) Medicare payment for cardiac rehabilitation programs, pulmonary rehabilitation programs, arthritis exercise programs, etc. as a means for reducding acute care costs; 2) More medicare payment for home care services as a means of reducing long term hospital and nursing home cost; 3) Medicare payment for a multidisciplinary evaluation to help older people and families decide on the most appropriate and least expensive health care; 4) Medicare payment for specific dental and sensory services; 5) Medicare payment for post-hospital care in extended care facilities; 6) A provision that Medicare hospital payments be subject to the humane concerns of the older patient as judged by the patient's physician in conjunction with Medicare review committees.

The hearing is open to the public. Vending machines for refreshments will be available at the hearing, but anyone with special dietary requirements should pack a lunch of needed supplies.

Westvaco Reports Second Quarter Sales Results

Westvaco Corporation , a major producer of paper, packaging, and specialty chemicals, has reported its sales and earnings for the second quarter and first six months for fiscal 1986 which ended April 30.

Second quarter sales reached $435,747,000 compared with sales of $436,226,000 for the same period in fiscal 1985. Sales for the first six months of this fiscal year were $852,187,000, or 1.6 percent below sales of $865,729,000 for the same period last year. During the month of April, Westvaco recorded the highest sales for any April in its history.

For the second quarter, earnings totaled $18,647,000, or 65 cents a share, compared with $22,952,000, or 80 cents a share, in the same period of fiscal 1985. Earnings for the first six months amounted to $38,910,000, or $1.35 a share, compared with $45,683,000, or $1.60 a share, in the same period last year. Earnings in the second quarter benefited from a change in the expected lives of some assets which reduced depreciation by $2 million after taxes, or about 7 cents a share.

During the second quarter, Westvaco filed a registration statement covering the sale of $100 million of 30-year debentures. The company expects to complete this financing in the weeks immediately ahead.

State, County Jobless Rates Fall In April

Maryland's estimated unemployment rate decreased in April to 4.0 percent from 4.5 percent in March, according to statistics released by the Maryland Department of Employment and Training. This rate was the lowest for an April since 1973.

Meanwhile, Garrett County's jobless rate also fell, from 12.1 percent in March to 10.9 percent in April.

The county's unemployment rate in April of last year was 12.7 percent. The 10.9 percent figure this April was, however, the highest rate among the state's 23 counties and Baltimore City.

Between March and April, Maryland's civilian labor force increased by 31,800 persons, to total 2,281,456. Employment increased by 41,444 for a total of 2,189,863. The number of unemployed persons decreased by 9,644 to total 91,593.

Garrett County's labor force increased from 11,501 in March to 11,596 in April. The number of persons unemployed decreased from 1,388 to 1,260.

Over the year, the labor force increased by an estimated 49,312. Employment grew by 58,967 persons while unemployment declined by 9,655.

Of the state's total unemployed, an estimated 41.7 percent received unemployment insurance benefits in April.

Between March and April, the labor market's springtime expansion continued. Extensive hiring was noted in construction, eating and drinking places, local government, hotels, amusement and recreation services, food stores, real estate, building materials and garden supplies stores, and in social, business, health and agricultural services. Meanwhile, limited layoffs were observed in communication equipment manufacturing, private education, and federal government.

The national unemployment rate decreased in April to 7.0 percent from 7.5 percent in March, In March, only three states had lower unemployment rates than Maryland. They were New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and Connecticut.

Unemployment among black persons, nationally, was down from the 14.7 percent recorded in March to 14.6 in April. In Maryland, the unemployment rate among black persons, reported annually, was 9.3 percent in 1984.

In the Baltimore Metropolitan Area, the unemployment rate decreased from 5.2 to 4.7 percent. Baltimore City's unemployment rate dropped from 6.8 to 6.4 percent.

Unemployment in Maryland's suburbs of the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Area decreased from 2.7 to 2.5 percent.

Western Maryland's unemployment rate decreased from 9.1 to 7.6 percent. In the balance of state, the unemployment rate decreased from 6.8 to 5.3 percent.

Statewide, during April, Maryland's unemployment rate ranged from 2.1 percent in Montgomery and Howard counties to 10.9 percent in Garrett County.

Representatives from local organizations and health professionals will be testifying at a field hearing on June 9 entitled "Medicare Payments and Quality Health Care for Rural Older Americans."

The hearing, scheduled by U.S. Representative Beverly Byron and Congressman Don Banker, members of the Select Committee on Aging, will be held at the Allegany Community College Auditorium, Willowbrook Road, Cumberland, at 10 a.m.

The purpose of this hearing is to assess the quality of health care available to the rural elderly under the current Medicare/Medicaid programs. The goals of the committee include identifying and increasing public awareness of the various problems Medicare beneficiaries are currently expressing with an eye toward gathering recommendations for future legislative initiatives.

A few examples of lack of Medicare payments for acute and long term care would be increasing denials for reimbursement of some emergency room services, payment restriction for some surgical procedures, need for early hospital discharges, and decrease in payments made for intermittent care.

All interested persons are invited to attend the hearing or call the following panel members to voice their concerns: Margo VanDiver, Area Agency on Aging; Karl Schwalm, M.D., Garrett County Memorial Hospital; Lucy Burnett, R.N., Garrett County Memorial Hospital; Larry Beck, Garrett County Memorial Hospital administrator; Barry Conger, D.D.S.; and Norma B. Bolding, R.N., Garrett County Health Department.

Anheuser-Busch, DNR Develop Safe Boating Brochure

Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc. and its Annapolis-based wholesaler, Katcef Brothers, Inc., have continued a longtime commitment to boating safety by supporting a new Alcohol Enforcement Program developed by the Maryland Natural Resources Police.

Through a grant from Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc., the Natural Resources Police produced a four-color brochure, "Tips for Safe Boating." It will be distributed at Maryland marinas, government offices and to boaters.

The National Institute of Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism chose Maryland to develop a pilot program to increase public awareness of the problems associated with alcohol and boating. The Maryland Alcohol and Water Safety Initiative committee was formed to include private sector volunteers including Katcef Brothers Vice President Jim Katcef. The committee also includes representatives from numerous federal agencies and the state departments of natural resources, education, health and mental hygiene.

"Maryland is one of the few states that has a sensible statute specifically relating to boating, alcohol and safety," Katcef said. "Anheuser-Busch is committed to the boating safety goals set by the Maryland program. We are confident it will play an important role in reducing the number of alcohol-related boating accidents in this state and others."

For more information on the Maryland Alcohol Enforcement Program or for copies of the "Tips for Safe Boating" brochure, persons may contact The Maryland Natural Resources Police, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, MD 21401 or call (301) 269-2248.

Noted Poets To Participate In Writers Workshop

The first Western Maryland Writers' Workshop, scheduled for the week of June 15-20 at Frostburg State College, will be highlighted by the appearance of two noted poets from the Washington area and the morning workshop directed by local poet Douglas DeMars. A dual funding effort on the part of the Maryland Humanities Council and Poets and Writers, Inc. of New York has made this event possible.

All three poets, who will share and discuss their work with the general public and the workshop participants, have, through their poems, explored the question of meaning in their lives, the experience of joy and sorrow and the disintegration of illusions, according to an FSC spokesman.

The workshop itself consists of daily intensive sessions in which participants read and discuss their own work. The workshop will be conducted by Douglas DeMars, creative writing teacher at Frostburg State College, whose recently published book of poetry Masked Avenger has been compared to Whitman's "Song of Myself."

Elisavietta Ritchie, currently president of the Washington Writers' Publishing House and author of seven volumes of poetry, will be reading and discussing her work Monday, June 16.

Peter Klappert, director of The Writing Program at George Mason University, will read on Wednesday evening. Stanley Kunitz has described him: "For a young man he has already disburdened himself of much of the gear and baggage of his adolescence, those guilts and hangups that make so many poets hobble for a lifetime. He is strong enough to contemplate the ultimate absurdity of being alive, and free enough to keep on searching for ancestors and meanings."

In addition, Ann Knox, editor of The Antitam Review, will read from her work on Thursday, June 19.

All readings will be held in the Frostburg State College Library, Room 210. Wine and cheese receptions will follow.

For more information or to enroll in the workshop, persons may call the Frostburg State College Office of Special Programs and Continuing Education, 689-4214.

Mathias Supports Extended Daylight Saving Time

Senator Charles McC. Mathias Jr. (R-Md.) has expressed his support for legislation to extend daylight saving time, stating that victims of night blindness will benefit particularly from the measure.

Passed by the full Senate, the measure calls for daylight saving time to begin on the first Sunday of April rather than the last Sunday in April.

"More than 400,000 Retinitis Pigmentosa (night blindness) sufferers are forced to postpone the simplest outdoor activities until the sun rises again," Mathias said. "Daylight saving time grants extra hours of productivity to these people." Mathias noted that the headquarters for the National Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation Fighting Blindness is located in Baltimore.

"People in all parts of the United States will experience the benefits of expanded daylight saving time in many forms," he added, "including lessened crime and increased energy savings."

The House of Representatives passed a similar measure which, in addition to including the Senate conditions, adds an extension at the end of daylight saving time from the last Sunday in October to the first Sunday in November.

A House-Senate conference committee will be set up to resolve the differences in the bill before it is sent to the President.

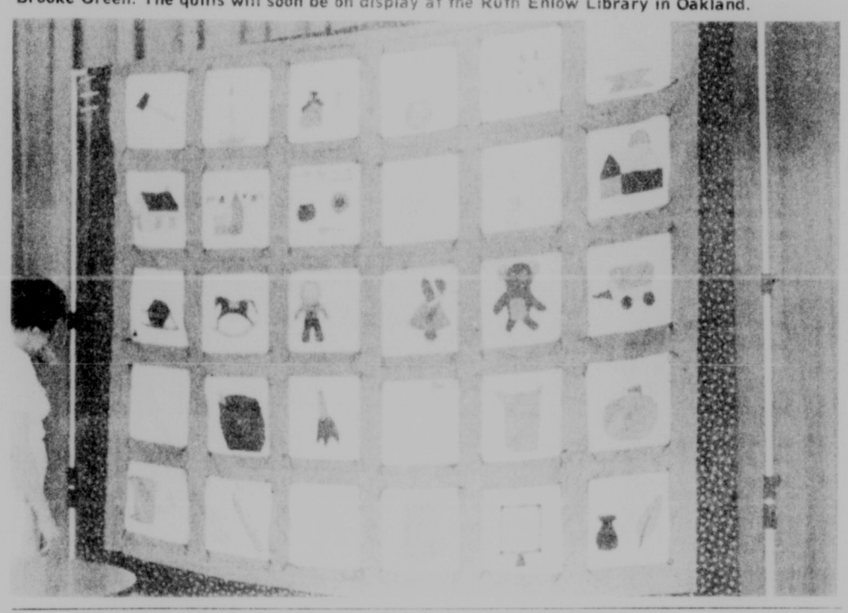
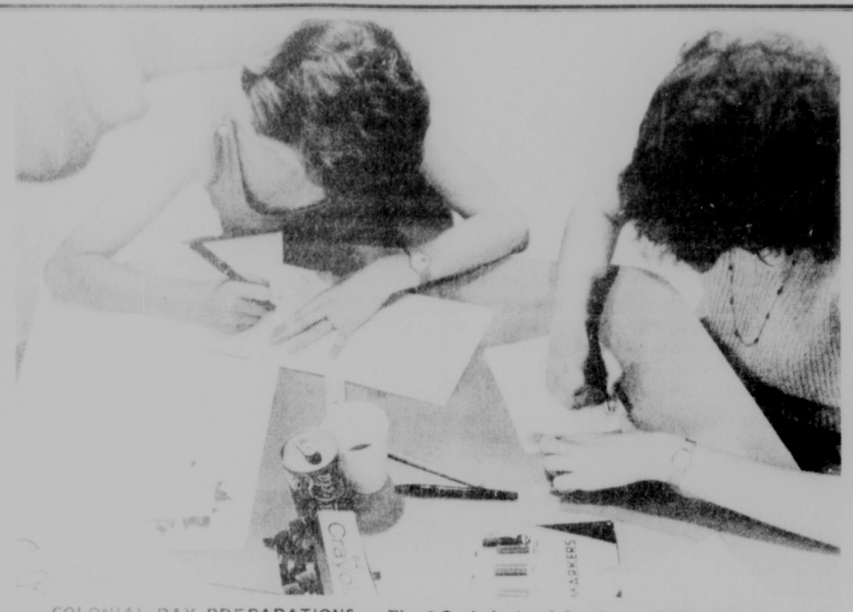
COLONIAL QUILTS — The second and third period Southern Middle School students of Gary Thompson's 8-B classes completed the quilts shown above and below as a culminating activity to their Colonial Research project this year. The 88-1 quilt, below, was raffled and the winner, Roberta Baker, was chosen at the Colonial Day dinner held May 17 by the 8-B students of Thompson and Brooke Green. The quilts will soon be on display at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland.





COLONIAL DAY PREPARATIONS — The 8-B students of Southern Middle School recently completed a course in Colonial Research. Following the completion of the course, the students along with their teacher-sponsors, held a Colonial Day at the school on May 17. They held an authentic Colonial Day dinner and provided numerous demonstrations of colonial activities such as: log splitting, butter churning, soapmaking, ice cream making, quilling, needlework, wood carving, leaf printing, stenciling, calligraphy and preparation of herbal teas and medicines. Tracie Teagarden, left, and Tracie Ellis are shown above working dilligently on their calligraphy projects. Pictured below, left to right, are Mark Upole, Jeff Wilson and Evan Paugh making leaf prints. Sean Lewis, above, far right, learns the art of making lye soap. He discovered that early Americans couldn't run to the corner store for a bar of "Dial", so they had to make their own and use it not only for their bodies but also for the weekly laundry. Sean found that they used the soap and a wooden washboard or large rock to scrub their clothes.

New Retirement Plan For Federal Workers Praised

Senator Charles McC. Mathias Jr. (R-Md.) has praised a new retirement system for federal workers that "gives employees more control over their retirement and more flexibility in employment."

Two and a half years after the Social Security Amendments of 1983 mandated that Congress develop a new system for federal workers, the Senate voted for final passage of the Conference Report that implements the plan.

"We now have a retirement system that is generous enough to compare with some of the best pension programs in the private sector. It will be a good tool for attracting and retaining qualified people for government service and a less costly system for taxpayers," Mathias said.

One component of the system, a tax-deferred thrift plan, gives federal employees the ability to invest a portion of their retirement contributions so they can increase their potential retirement income. At present, employees cannot invest the money they have contributed toward their retirement.

The thrift tiers of the new plan will allow federal workers to join, rejoin, or leave government services with greater ease than under the existing system. The government will benefit from a fresh influx of people who want to pursue government service and present employees will not have to forego vested retirement benefits by seeking more challenging positions in the private sector.

The Social Security portion of the pension will receive full cost of living adjustments and the basic annuity will include full inflation protection for up to two percent. If inflation is higher than two percent, the adjustment would equal the consumer price index minus one percent.

Additionally, the new system will gradually raise the minimum retirement age for civil service employees from 55 to 57.

PLANNING TO SELL?

The decision to sell your home is not usually an overnight impulse. After all, a new lifestyle will be beckoning and that is an important decision.

Before you make a firm decision to sell, make an appointment to visit an established real estate agency to update yourself on current market conditions. You'll probably want to know what is available, where and in what price ranges any home, apartment or condo which you have decided on for your new location.

Also you'll want to know the probable net proceeds from the sale of your home and the tax consequences of the sale. Depending on whether you'll need the cash from the sale for a down payment, you may want to consider participating in your buyer's financing which could serve as a safe, high interest investment.

There's a lot of information you'll want to get before you make that decision (most of it good if you're a homeowner). Our office would be more than happy to assist you in complete confidence.

5th Anniversary Fete Planned At Town View Home

The concept of Town View Village came about at a meeting in June, 1978, when a group of interested citizens from Accident met with Tom Jones, Garrett County Development Corporation director, and Deborah Lawton, Garrett County Housing Office. From that initial meeting, plans were begun for a housing complex for senior citizens.

Groundbreaking ceremonies took place on May 9, 1980 and Town View Village was formally dedicated on June 5, 1981. The first tenants moved into their apartment on July 1 that same year.

Town View Village consists of 20 self-contained one-bedroom units. Garrettland Realty, Inc., Oakland, manages the complex.

Those persons desiring applications for residency may obtain the proper forms from Garrettland's office in Oakland or from the manager's office at Town View Village.

R. Mark Durst
DIRECTOR
NO HIDDEN COSTS
All of us have had the experience of opening a bill and being staggered by the amount. This is often because what we THOUGHT we were paying has been considerably augmented by "hidden costs,"—taxes, service charges, surcharges, interest charges, etc.
The great majority of funeral directors adhere to a professional code of ethics which includes provisions for seeing that this doesn't happen. In order to eliminate those hidden costs, you will find that these funeral directors are explicit about the costs of goods and services. In addition, once the family decides on the kind of service desired, the funeral director should provide a written document for the family to review and approve.
This should include a description of the service and the price. Any supplemental charges for merchandise or service should be listed. It should also make mention of any sums which the funeral director will advance on behalf of the family, e.g. newspaper notice.

PSI Ordered For Two Local Men

During Garrett County Circuit Court proceedings last week, pre-sentence investigations were ordered for two local men.

Randolph L. Harvey Sr., 28, Oakland, was found to be guilty of charges of battery, breaking and entering, and wanton trespassing. He was found not guilty of malicious destruction of the property of another.

The charges were filed following a November 16 incident in the Oakland area.

According to court records, Harvey came to the residence of Debra Harvey and began pounding on the door. He then entered the house and began to push her around, not allowing her to leave with her two children.

Harvey's bail was set at $1,000, with the condition that he have no contact with Mrs. Harvey except about children's visitation.

Harvey was represented by John R. Toston, public defender.

Stanley W. Cosner, McHenry, was found to be guilty of perjury, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

A warrant was issued for Cosner after an indictment was handed down March 11.

The charge stemmed from an incident involving a money order.

Cosner's bail was revoked, and he was committed to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department pending sentencing.

Cosner was represented by Toston.

Chaplaincy Program Initiated At Local Hospital

After more than two years in the making, Garrett County Memorial Hospital will have its own chaplaincy service. On behalf of the hospital, Larry Beck, administrator, in January of 1984 invited area clergy, hospital administration and medical staff to form a Chaplaincy Committee whose responsibility it would be to draft a set of by-laws for a Chaplaincy Service at GCMH. The purpose of the Service is two-fold: to serve the spiritual and mental needs of both the patients and the staff at the hospital.

The Committee completed its work and the set of by-laws was accepted by the Hospital Board, Medical Staff, and Mt. Top Ministerium.

Clergy and hospital personnel were invited to attend an Orientation Session, on April 23, led by the Reverend Pamela Shier, director of the Chaplaincy Service at West Virginia University Hospital.

Chaplains will be on duty for a one-week period and on call 24 hours each day. Chaplain rounds will begin at 1 p.m., which include visiting all newly admitted patients and being available at the Chapel for hospital personnel, families of the patients, as well as for the patients themselves. The name of the Chaplain of the Week will be posted at the Chapel.

Ms. Charlotte Bock, director of nurisng and one of the persons who has been behind the program, said that the hospital nursing staff was eagerly awaiting the service for total patient care and support of administration and medical staff.

Fuel Use Jumps During March

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says mild weather, an early Easter holiday and falling fuel prices combined to boost motor fuel consumption in March, 1986, to 193,473,331 gallons, the fourth highest single month's consumption on record.

"That level of fuel use is highly unusual outside the summer months," said Goldstein, noting that July and August are generally the months when consumption records are set. "Of the winter months, December generally has the highest consumption because of the holiday travel."

Goldstein stated that the March, 1986, motor fuel consumption figures represented an increase of seven percent over the 180.8 million gallons used during March, 1985.

The comptroller said that stable prices, adequate supply and the continuing emphasis on "stay at home tourism" would likely continue the escalation of motor fuel use. "The traffic levels noted on Maryland highways and toll facilities during May and the Memorial Day weekend indicate that this pattern of consumption will continue," he said.

April, 1986, motor fuel tax revenue, which is based on March sales, totaled $27,645,940, up 7.4 percent over the $25,752,435 collected during the same month a year ago. For the first ten months of fiscal year 1986, motor fuel tax revenue totaled $266,383,727, up 2.9 percent over the $258,794,038 collected during the identical period of the previous fiscal year.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of John and Mary Herman. When lines of life are broken, and loved ones have to part.
It leaves a wound that never heals and ever aching hearts.
When we get together there are those we fail to see, and it fills our hearts with sadness thinking how it used to be.
The little things they used to like and what they used to say, are just the things that we remember, since they have gone away.
But its only for a little while, our loved ones left our sight.
For just beyond the hill they wait, in God's eternal light.

Loved and sadly missed,
Daughter Marion and Granddaughter Jeannie

My father. My father died many years ago. And yet when something special happens to me. I talk to him secretly not really knowing whether he hears, but it makes me feel better to half believe it.
We miss you a lot.

Deer Park Church To Sponsor VBS

The Deer Park Methodist Church will be sponsoring a vacation Bible school June 16-20 from 6-8:30 p.m. nightly. The closing ceremony will be held Sunday, June 22, at 7:30 p.m. at the church, according to Susan Filsinger, director of the school.

"Jesus, I Love You" is the theme for the school this year. Classes will be offered for children from age four through high school.

"Bible-based lessons will be taught and students will be challenged and involved through such activities as song time, Bible study, interesting visual demonstrations, classroom interaction and craft-making," said Filsinger.

Those desiring more information on the school may call 334-4066.

State's Largest Taxpayers Pay $52.9 Million

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein accepted checks totaling $52,887,722 from Batlimore Gas and Electric Company and the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland as payment of the franchise tax on gross receipts of the two public utilities.

"This is one of the largest payments ever made in gross receipts taxes," Goldstein said. "These two companies contributed a record $54.7 million to Maryland's General Fund through the gross receipts tax in 1983. The decline can primarily by attributed to the change in the structure of the telephone company as a result of the break-up of AT & T."

Under Maryland law, public utilities pay a tax on gross receipts instead of a corporation income tax. Therefore, they do not benefit from deductions and credits available under the income tax.

The payments cover final payment of the tax on gross receipts for 1985 and an estimated payment for the gross receipts tax for the first half of 1986. The two utilities are Maryland's largest taxpayers.

Maryland To Gain $40 Million From Crude Oil Overcharge Case

Maryland Attorney General Stephen H. Sachs and Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced Friday that Maryland had agreed to settle a major crude oil overcharge case that could bring approximately $40 million to the State. The proposed settlement in the so-called Kansas Stripper Well Litigation is the result of lengthy negotiations between representatives of the States, the United States Department of Energy, major oil companies, and a variety of commercial and industrial petroleum users.

The structured settlement provides for payments to be made over a period of three years. In the first year, over $900 million will be divided among the States and the federal government. Of this initial amount, approximately $12.5 million will come to the State of Maryland.

The Stripper Well case involved allegations that oil companies had violated federal oil price regulations that were in effect from 1973 through 1981, by incorrectly classifying certain oil wells as "stripper wells"—wells that produced an average of 10 barrels of oil a day or less—and including those wells in their price calculations. Forty-two separate cases were consolidated into a single case before the federal district court in Wichita, Kansas, that eventually held that the oil producers had violated the regulations.

The agreement further provides that the funds collected in all other pendding crude oil overcharge cases will be used first to pay those who can prove claims of injury and then will be divided equally between the federal government and the States. The Department of Energy has projected that this second stage could result in the federal government and the States sharing as much as $3.1 billion, with Maryland's share being approximately $27,000,000.

Sachs stated that the agreement was being presented for signature by the remaining parties, including the refiners, resellers, and retailers of petroleum products, as well as agricultural cooperatives, airlines, trucking and bus companies, and utilities. Sachs explained that the parties would seek a prompt hearing at which the agreement would be submitted to Judge Frank Theis of the United States District Court for the District of Kansas, who must approve any settlement.

"This settlement, if approved by the court, will avoid costly litigation that potentially could delay for years the recovery of millions of dollars in overcharges by the citizens of the States, including Maryland," Sachs said. "The settlement could add tens of millions of dollars to the $36.5 million recently received by the State of Maryland in the United States vs. Exxon litigation, money that is earmarked for energy-related programs that are designed to distribute the benefits to all of the citizens of the State of Maryland."

The money, when received by the State, would be deposited into the Maryland Energy Overcharge Trust Fund pending distribution to approved energy conservation programs. The Trust Fund is supervised by a Board of Trustees that is chaired by Goldstein. The Board would decide which energy-related programs will receive funding from money derived from the settlement. Goldstein noted that the Board had recently concluded a series of hearings at various locations across the State, at which the public was invited to propose uses for the $36.5 million that was received by the Trust Fund as a result of the Exxon judgment.

Correction Noted

It was incorrectly stated in last week's paper that the POW/MIA flag being carried across the United States by Charles "Butch" Appel, a Vietnam veteran, was donated by Proctor Kildow Post No. 71 of the American Legion. Actually, the flag was donated by Garrett County Chapter 245, Vietnam Veterans of America.

Vietnam Veterans of America was recently chartered by the United States Congress. It is only the 72nd charter given by Congress in its history.

Sheriff Notes Procedure For Reporting Abuse

The death of four-year-old Brandy White, allegedly the result of child abuse, has raised many questions about the reporting and investigation of child abuse cases.

Garrett County Sheriff M. Van Evans this week released a list of information that must be given when reporting a child abuse incident.

He stressed the fact that when a case of suspected child abuse is seen, it should be reported immediately, and the following information should be given: who is being abused, along with the parents' or guardians' names; where the abuse took place, and the address or location of the victim's residence; and when the incident took place, including date, day and time.

Evans said the caller must also state exactly what he saw, and how he knows of the abuse, in detail. Evans stressed the fact that first-hand knowledge is always the best. The caller should also be able to give the names of any other people who may have witnessed the abuse, or have any knowledge of it.

The person making the report must also give his name. Evans said, "This is very vital. If the person reporting the abuse does not want his name used, fine, state this fact. However, a name and number is needed so that an officer may make contact and follow up his in-

HELPING HABITAT — Members of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department do not only attempt to save structures from burning down, but occasionally they assist in tearing down structures to make way for new home construction. The firefighters, and a number of other local volunteers, lent several hands on Saturday and Monday evening to assist the Garrett County Chapter of Habitat for Humanity in the removal of an old two-story house on Fourth Street in Oakland. Habitat, which is a Christian, non-denominational housing ministry, has plans to construct a new home on this site for an eligible family. Former OVFD Chief Buzz Updyke spent most of Saturday using a winch to pull down the walls of the structure and on Monday the other volunteers cleaned up and burned the debris. Identifiable in the above photo is Oakland VFD Chief Bob Rudy, center, Lieutenant Randy Shaffer, left, and Ken DeWitt, OVFD member, second from left.

Yoder School Appeals Decision Of Board Of Ed.

The Garrett County Board of Education's decision to close Yoder School at the end of the 1989-90 school year will be appealed by the school's PTA, according to a spokesman for the group.

John Neubert, newly elected vice president of the PTA, said, "We feel that the actions of the local school board were arbitrary and unreasonable or illegal." He noted that the grounds for appeal are found in Title 13A of the Maryland Regulations. Copies of the appeal have been sent to David W. Hornbeck, state superintendent of schools; Ellen Heller, attorney for the state board; and the local school board.

According to Neubert, Yoder parents are considering all means of keeping the school open beyond 1990. He said committees are working on the appeal, pursuing legal actions, coordinating with other small schools in the area, contacting political figures interested in local education concerns, and doing research on small rural schools.

Stacy Farm Rated Among Top Five Tree Farms In America

The 230-acre tree farm of Marshall and Cindy Stacy, located near Swanton, has been declared one of the nation's top five tree farms as a result of regional judging last week of outstanding tree farmers in the Mid-Atlantic Region of the American Tree Farm System.

The Stacys, named Maryland's Outstanding Tree Farmers in February, were rated above state winners this year in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia in the 11th annual Outstanding Tree Farmer Contest sponsored by the American Forest Council.

The Stacy farm will now be judged against the other four regional winners to determine a national winner. A panel of 25 judges, all of whom are involved in the tree farm and timber industry, will make the final decision sometime in October. Their decision will be based partly on entry booklets that are being prepared by the regional winners.

John Herrington, one of the contest's judges who inspected the Stacy farm, known as Pinetum Enterprises, on Tuesday, June 3, said, "In addition to performing timber stand improvement, cutting firewood, building roads and various other management activities for products, wildlife and aesthetics, the Stacys' hard work has been an attraction to major media and has involved hiring Juvenile Services forestry boys and income and property tax activism."

The Stacys are the first Garrett Countians and the first full-time Christmas tree farmers to win a regional title. Three other Garrett County tree farmers have also been cited as Outstanding Maryland Tree Farmers over the years. The Mid-Atlantic region of the

Delay-Claim Suit Is Filed Against Garrett County Sanitary District

H.J. Schneider Construction, Inc. has filed a delay-claim suit against the Garrett County Sanitary District in Federal District Court in Baltimore.

According to Sanitary District Administtrator Wendell Beitzel, the approximate $700,000 delay claim is the result of the Deep Creek Property Owners' suit to stop the project which delayed the start of construction five months after the contract was awarded for contract number 10.

After the Property Owners' suit was resolved, the contractor refused to proceed with the work without compensation for the delay. At that time, according to Beitzel, a change order was executed to provide $216,000 for the electrical subcontract portion of that contract.

After the change order was agreed to by the Sanitary District and approved by the state, the contractor agreed to proceed with the work, with an understanding that other delay claims were still outstanding.

The District has retained the services of Warren Rich and Richard Rice of Niles, Barton and Wilmer as legal representatives. They along with District Engineer Henry N. Doyle attempted, unsuccessfully, to negotiate a settlement of the delay claims, and H.J. Schneider Construction, Inc.

Grand Jury Indicts Sarver, White For Felonious Homicide

The Grand Jury for Garrett County handed down indictments yesterday afternoon charging Donna Lynn White, 26, and Bruce Allen Sarver, 29, in the death of four-year-old Brandy Lynn White.

Each was charged with felonious homicide, child abuse, and assault and battery.

For the first count, the jurors presented that White and Sarver "feloniously, willfully and of deliberately premeditated malice aforethought did kill and murder Brandy Lynn White . . ."

The jurors presented that the child abuse and assault and battery occurred on or about May 18.

The indictment was signed by State's Attorney James L. Sherbin, and Francis L. Miller.

Under the felonious homicide charges, the two could be convicted by a jury of first-degree murder, lesser murder charges, or manslaughter, and could face jail terms ranging from 10 years for manslaughter to life for first-degree murder.

Both White and Sarver are being held in the Garrett County Jail on $100,000 bond. A new bond hearing is scheduled for this afternoon.

Sarver was previously charged with child abuse, assault with intent to maim, and assault and battery. White was charged with caused child abuse.

Death Sentence Upheld For Richard Tichnell

The Maryland Court of Appeals ruled Monday in Annapolis that Richard D. Tichnell, a West Virginia man convicted of killing a Garrett County sheriff's deputy would not receive a new sentencing hearing, and that the death sentence he had been given previously will be upheld.

The state's highest court overturned Prince George's County Circuit Court Judge Audrey E. Melbourne, whose March, 1985 ruling was that errors in strategy by Tichnell's lawyer "contributed to the penalty of death".

In a unanimous opinion, judges in the Maryland Court of Appeals said they found no flaw in the defense strategy offered by the lawyer, Clark B. Frame, of West Virginia.

Tichnell was convicted of the shooting death of Garrett County Deputy Sheriff David G. Livengood. The incident occurred in January, 1979, after a break-in at Davidson's Army-Navy Discount Store, Oakland.

Four Million Dollar Suit Filed By Brandy White's Father, Uncle

Six individuals and agencies have been named so far in a $4 million U.S. District Court suit filed last Thursday in the behalf of four-year-old Brandy White, allegedly the victim of child abuse.

The complainants are the child's father, Richard A. White: and her uncle, Melvin White, who is the appointed personal representative of the estate.

The defendants include: Garrett County Sheriff M. Van Evans, Garrett County Social Services Administrator Robert C. Shaffer, Maryland State Social Services Administrator Frank Farrow, Baltimore; Garrett County Board of Commissioners, State Police Sgt. Robert Friend and Garrett County Social Services worker Donald Quinn.

In some cases, department heads were named not because they took part in the initial investigation, but because they are responsible for their agency's actions.

The document lists seven counts which essentially charge violation of Brandy's constitutional right to life.

The suit alleges that neighbors and relatives repeatedly called the state police, the sheriff's office, and the social services department in late April and May to express concern about Brandy being the victim of child abuse. However, the complainants claim these calls led to only two visits to Brandy's home by officials, while additional calls were ignored.

The suit was filed by attorney John P. Coale in the Federal District Court for the District of Maryland in Baltimore. Co-counsel is Greta VanSusteren.

According to Coale and VanSusteren, the list of defendents is still open, and any others found in the course of deposition to be implicated in the case will be added to list.

The suit seeks $3,295,000 in compensatory damages, and another $1 milllion in punitive damages.

Brandy's father is an inmate at the Maryland Correctional Institute, Hagerstown, where he is serving time for breaking and entering. Her uncle lives in the Bloomington area.

Commissioners, Delegate Return From Annapolis With Landfill Grant

Garrett County government officials received word last week at a Maryland Board of Public Works that over one-quarter of a million dollars would be allocated to the county in two separate grants. Attending the meeting were Garrett County Commissioners John G. Braskey, Elwood Groves II, and Delegate George C. Edwards. Senator John Bambacus sent a letter of support for the landfill grant.

The grants are for the Garrett County Landfill project and the community parks project in northern Garrett County.

The landfill grant amounted to $228,000 and was allocated under the Solid Waste Facilities Loan Fund of 1983.

Paul R. Shockey, Garrett County Roads Administrator and overseer of the landfill, said the grant would be broken down as follows:

1) 125 acres for a 20-year site at a cost of $1,200 per acre ($150,000).

2) Permit engineering at $46,000.

3) Land clearing at $32,000.

The $228,000 grant represents less than 10% of the total cost of designing and implementing the new "state of the art" landfill mandated by the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, said the commissioners.

The second grant was for $26,250 to go to the town of Accident for the completion of two community parks. Those funds were allocated through Program Open Space, and represents 75% of the total cost of the project.

The two-acre West Side Park project will include a sledriding trail, nature trail, arboretum, horseshoe and volleyball playing area, playground equipment and picnic sites.

The over four-acre East Side Park project would include the completion of a Little League/softball field, restroom facilities, playground equipment, basketball court and parking area.

Commissioner Groves credits the Maryland Environmental Service for "working with and supporting" the grant request.

Concerning funding for the parks, Commissioner Braskey stated, "We are happy to support this project, on behalf of the town of Accident, and to see it approved by the Board of Public Works. It will be a tremendous help."

The total cost of the landfill project, which must include a

GCC Trustees' Chairman Explains Accreditation Renewal Controversy

Katharine L. Smith, chairman of the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees said in a news release this week that there seems to be confusion in the community about the status of GCC and the process by which the state renews accreditation.

GCC, upon compietion of a factual data report this winter, was visited by an accreditation evaluation team consisting of three members from outside the State of Maryland, a member from the State Board for Higher Education (SBHE). The accreditation review is a normal, on going procedure that takes place in each community college every five years, said Smith.

Upon completion of the team visit to GCC, a letter was received by the college explaining the process that was to follow the visit, continued Smith.

"This, as outlined by the SBHE, was that GCC would receive a draft report and return it to the SBHE with any factual corrections," Smith stated. "Following that, the completed report would be returned to GCC and an institutional response would be made at that time."

The chairman continued, "Thus, if the process had begun in March, it could be completed prior to the SBHE meeting of June 3, at which time a recommendation of continued accreditation would be made."

However, Smith contended that GCC did not receive the draft report until May 14 and stated that the Board of Trustees at GCC did not feel that the college had adequate time to complete the process as outlined in the letter from the SBHE.

Therefore, Smith said the board contacted Richard Kline, chairman of the SBHE, to explain the situation. She said the board received a very understanding response from him. "He spoke very positively and supportively of the need for GCC in Garrett County and stated his wish to 'be of help to the college,' " Smith said.

Kline suggested that due to the fact a new president would be arriving this summer, it would seem appropriate for the new president to review the report before any recommendation would be made.

Chairman Smith attended the June 3 committee meeting of

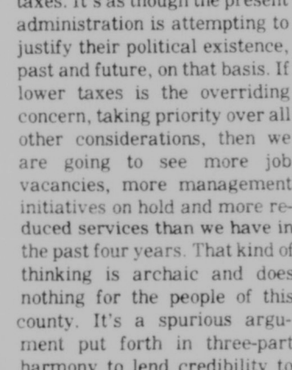
Seifert To Run For District Three Commissioner



Francis D. (Hank) Seifert, Oakland, announced this week that he will be seeking the District Three Garrett County Commissioner seat in the upcoming election. He is a registered Republican.

"I am very excited about the office of county commissioner," said Seifert. "It represents both a challenge to deal directly with issues that affect the people of this county and an opportunity to represent those people in a fair and responsible way."

The commissioner hopeful continued, "We have heard so much lately about lowered taxes. It's as though the present administration is attempting to justify their political existence, past and future, on that basis. If lower taxes is the overriding concern, taking priority over all other considerations, then we are going to see more job vacancies, more management initiatives on hold and more reduced services than we have in the past four years. That kind of thinking is archaic and does nothing for the people of this county. It's a spurious argument put forth in three-part harmony to lend credibility to the politically naive."

Seifert went on to say that "contemporary management philosophy holds that unless you maintain both the level and quality of community-based services while aggressively pursuing management initiatives, concurrent with a reduction in expenditures, you have no real achievement. You have simply reduced taxes by cutting staff and services. I think we deserve better."

Seifert said he felt it was time for a change. "Change both in leadership and direction," he said.

He stated that he wanted the people of District Three and throughout the county to have a choice in their political representation. "Not just the traditional, partisan political choice between the Democrat and Republican ideology, but choice between the presence (or absence) of management ability and leadership style."

Seifert said some of his political thoughts are:

—Belief in greater management initiative to recruit business and industry into Garrett County with a view toward the creation of jobs.

—Belief in greater initiative to develop the county's planning capability.

—Belief in greater initiative to develop the county's environmental health capability.

—Belief in a fully-implemented tax differential system that relieves the county residents and municipal residents from the unfair burden of subsidizing one another.

—Belief in strengthened police and emergency management capability.

—Belief in the aid and assistance for the comfort and well-being of the elderly.

—Belief in education with greater attention given to our ability to provide a quality education rather than focus on the size of the education budget.

—Belief in management by objectives.

—Belief in immediate initiatives to reorganize and restructure the county's various component parts into a manageable organization complete with the non-delegable assignment of responsibility and accountability, with written policies, procedures and guidelines for administration.

Seifert concluded by saying that he felt most people were not persuaded by the claim of lower taxes and that, given the choice, most people want good county government and reliable services for which they are willing to pay their fair share.

Seifert and his wife, Margie, are the parents of one son, Brandon, who is a junior at Frostburg State College.

The candidate is a self-employed, licensed builder and home improvement contractor. Prior to that he was employed from 1958-78 by the Federal Government's Department of Health and Human Service as a supervisory management analyst.

He is a graduate of the University of Maryland and Southeastern University with degrees in business administration and public administration. He also did graduate work in public administration at George Washington University and Southeastern University in Washington, D.C.

Seifert is presently serving his second term on the Oakland Town Council and is currently the president of that body. He is also a member of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Board of Governors. He is a charter member and past master of Oxon Hill Masonic Lodge, an associate member of Western Lodge F.O.P., and a member of the Oakland Rotary Club.

His special interests and hobbies include: cars and trucks, writing, football and boxing.

Correction Noted

An article in last week's edition of The Republican concerning the valedictorians and salutatorians of the local high schools stated that Shawn Reed, Southern High School salutatorian, is the daughter of Keith Reed and Roxanne Reed, and separate addresses were given. In fact, Keith and Roxanne are "happily married", and both reside in Sky Valley. We apologize for the error.

An Expensive Mandate

The reports this week from scientists concerning the deteriorating ozone layer in our atmosphere, coupled with the layer of pollution that causes what is known as the greenhouse effect, are rather alarming. The experts say that the situation will lead to a general warming of our atmosphere that will cause major weather changes and severe flooding all over the face of the earth as the polar ice caps begin to melt. Some predict this could occur by the year 2050 unless something is done to clean up our air.

While other scientists claim that the problem is not at such a critical state, we believe that drastic measures may be in order. But where is the money going to come from to pay for such drastic measures?

A similar situation is happening right here in our backyards and it's causing severe headaches for our county government officials. This situation concerns ground and water pollution.

The Clean the Bay project is designed to clean up the waters of our state, the vast majority of which eventually flows into the Chesapeake Bay. One of the areas that the state has targeted for major overhaul are the solid waste landfill sites. The new regulations, we believe, have merit from the standpoint of an effective clean-up angle. However, the expense of complying with the regulations is astronomical and the state has placed most of the financial burden at the doorstep of local governments.

Garrett County has been given a deadline of December 1987 to have its new approved landfill in operation. The cost of the project has been estimated to be a staggering $2,270,400. Most other counties are facing similar mandated projects.

Although Garrett County received word this week that it will receive a grant of about $228,000 from the Maryland Solid Waste Facilities Loan Fund, this represents about 10 percent of the total cost. Where is the rest going to come from?

Every citizen should be concerned about air and water pollution and support efforts to clean up Old Mother Earth. However, we agree with County Commissioner Elwood Groves, who stated this week that if the state is going to make such stringent requirements, then the state should provide a better mechanism to help the counties pay for implementing them. Our tax base is so relatively small in Garrett County that payment for such a project on a local basis will be a huge burden.

And what about all of the out-of-state water that eventually flows into the Chesapeake Bay, such as from Pennsylvania and West Virginia? It seems that those states should also be forced, perhaps by federal mandate, to impose similar restrictions on their counties.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In regard to your editorial in The Republican, issue dated June 5, 1986. On issues in the past we always felt your editorials were bias. However, this past editorial was ridiculous.

Thank God we have other area newspapers that will publish unbias issues that will inform the public. We do not consider this information "Sensationalism."

You also reported an area paper being filled with quotes of Brandy's neighbors who are upset and angry. If you had reported the abuse of this child to local officials and received no help, wouldn't you be angry too?

Without the publicity of the media our cries would go unheard and the public would not be informed, just as the concerns of those Bloomington neighbors when they felt it their duty to report an atrocious crime being committed against a four-year-old child.

We resent the fact that you do not credit us with enough intelligence to know how to act and where to stand without the news media telling us what to do.

For your information we were in this march near the front of the line and NO ONE told us how to act or where to stand!

Sincerely,
Velma Beckman &
Mary E. Leighton

To the Editor:

Your June 5 editorial illustrated an incomplete perception of the forces at work in society. It was perhaps a sublime understatement to announce that "Sensationalism Doesn't Help" the personnel at Social Services. On the other hand it staggered me to read the editor's postulation that "Sensationalism Doesn't Help" others, presently battered children.

The people at Social Services are paid to be in their no-win situations; the heat goes with the territory. It is often the case that when jobs in sensitive areas are poorly performed, sensational news results. The Challenger launch springs to mind. These people will survive the present trauma without your illogical defense.

What bothers me is your apparent failure to understand how the present sensationalism is helping children who are habitually brutalized by educating or intimidating the sick or criminal people who do the beatings. I have the impression from conversations with Social Services personnel that there may be a net benefit from what you are calling inappropriate sensationalism. The men and women who bring home their rage and express it by beating and terrorizing their families are now, at least in some cases, having second thoughts because they are more aware of the unnaturalness of their acts.

Many area children are enjoying what will likely be an all too brief respite from these fearful and inadequate parents and parental companions. People who brutalize the ones who would love them most are dangerously, perhaps criminally sick and need to be identified in order that they and their victims receive aid and appropriate counseling. If it takes sensationalism—even orchestrated sensationalism—to cause these people to pause from their structured violence, then let us have it. Children are a resource of the nation. Once they draw breath they should be at least as well protected as black bears.

Sincerely,
William L. Welch

To the Editor:

Sheriff Van Evans stated in last week's paper that a continuing investigation of the Brandy White family was opened up after a bruise was found on another member of the family, allegedly made by Sarver. Why, then, at the first hint of child abuse, was Brandy White not removed from this home?

There are a lot of unanswered questions we need answered by the people who are being paid to protect children, who cannot protect themselves.

As for the lawsuit being filed by caring relatives, where were these caring relatives during Brandy's short and tragic life? I truly hope that not one person will make any money off Brandy White's death, and that justice will be served to those who caused her death.

Thank you,
Shirley Herndon
Mt. Lake Park

To the Editor:

Boy, when I read the letter written by Bonnie Evans last week, my blood boiled. I personally called Social Services, the State Police and the Sheriff's Office and I gave my name! I also called Child Abuse and gave my name, not once, but many times. None of your business how many. The right people know that. Had you held her in your arms and watched her take her first steps, you would know the anguish we felt when we knew what evil was going on over there. I don't believe anyone in our group sees himself as a "Good Samaritan," as you say. I truly believe they all love kids.

I do wish you would tell us who to get in touch with for child abuse. I called everyone I knew of. There are more kids around here that need help! As far as the authorities go, they were told. The State Police and Sheriff did come down and did go in, but nothing was done. So if the shoe fits you and any of your family or friends, wear them, is all I can say.

A beautiful, sweet little girl died a horrible death because someone goofed. Maybe me! Perhaps I should have gone in after her like I wanted to. But we did try to help. All of us down here did.

Yes, "Bambi" will live forever, but only in our hearts. I just pray to God we can get better laws. I wish I could have the chance to take one of the poor little things and love them. I sure do in my heart. "Bambi" was very special to me. We loved her more than life itself. But they didn't even let me see her except to wave at her when she played outside.

Heartbroken,
Jo Ann Duckworth

To the Editor:

In response to the letter to the editor written by Bonnie Evans, I have a few comments to make.

I would like to see an investigation of all involved Garrett County Departments, not just Social Services.

From all reports that I have heard or read, the neighbors did call repeated times to the Social Services Department here in Garrett County and they also contacted a deputy in Allegany County who had no choice but to pass the buck back to Garrett County because it was out of his jurisdiction.

What would you do if not pass the buck to Social Services and the local law enforcement agencies?

The neighbors could not go to the premises and demand to see the child or enter the premises. If they had, chances are that they would have been charged with breaking and entering, or perhaps trespassing on private property.

Even though the neighbors did not succeed in helping Brandy, just maybe the Right for Justice organization will make officials stop and think before they treat another case so lightly.

The Right for Justice organization is not only striving for justice to be done in the Brandy White Case, but also in other cases that may arise in the future.

Sincerely,
Leigh-Anne Leighton

To the Editor:

Your two recent editorials had critized some news media. You call the the latest "sensationalism"; I prefer it to your "apparent cover-up philosphy." Truth in action, and words may get some beneficial results in this mess here in Garrett County and we surely need it.

I congratulate the planners of the march and activity in behalf of child abuse and death, obviously there are people (thank God) who know how to overcome the veil of silence and cover-up, which has seemed to prevail here for so long in the pursuit of truth, honesty and justice for real human beings welfare.

When you can give weeks and endless print concerning black bear deaths (I am not opposed to black bears or hunting), done properly but not one word about the horrible mess and mentally ill here and in and or the true state of our "mental health situation," I question the mentality, humanity, compassion, honesty and commitment to honest journalism (I wrote you a letter many weeks ago about this and I have read nothing about the problem) or the very important DNR regulations meeting several Saturdays ago; perhaps one of the most important meetings impacting Garrett County in some time. I have to question your "state centered affiliation" journalistically speaking.

I applaud any decision for signed letters. If a person has the courage of their convictions, sign it and take the consequences. I sure have for many years! It helps the double dealing behind closed doors when one is willing to stand up and be counted.

Maybe we could begin to clean up Garrett County and wouldn't that be a revelation? Maybe we could then get something done about some badly neglected areas such as the very troubled people, and a drunk who killed four people wouldn't get off scot free or someone caught on someone's property in the act of perpertrating a burglary wouldn't be let off scot free, because of who he was, no doubt.

Yes, some more of what we had last week would be a grand wake-up for Garrett County. Hurray for the women and children and all who really did a "bang-up job."

Thank you.

Louise V. Harvey

To the Editor:

Currently the Garrett County School System as well as the Garrett County Health Department employ psychologists for testing, consultative and counseling services. The school system contracts with the health department as well as having in house psychologists. The school system's admission, review and dismissal team (ARD) has always gone out into each school and has become a part of that school for a large part of a school day each week. They are the regularly seen educational/mental health professionals.

There is now a concept being considered which would eliminate the school psychologist position from the Garrett County Public Schools and would require students to go to an off-school grounds diagnostic center for psychological testing counseling. Perhaps some of the disadvantages involved would be 1) taking the student to an unfamiliar location to be assessed by unfamiliar people, 2) taking a larger portion of the student's day for the services due to transportation needs, 3) discouraging some needed referrals by making it more difficult for the parents and others to attend the meetings and 4) increasing the costs needed for substitute teachers if the need arises for the teacher to be involved in the meeting at the off-school center for a large portion of the day. Some of the advantages resulting from the diagnostic center include 1) saving the professional's time 2) obtaining more of an outside opinion 3) perhaps saving money in the long run, one should ask which is more important—the student's time or the professionals time?

It is often difficult to attend the ARD meetings because of parents' schedules and professionals schedules always having to be considered and worked around. Won't it be more difficult, for all concerned, to attend meetings that are at an off-school location? What if a parent wouldn't be able financially to attend themselves or send their child to counseling sessions?

If you have questions concerning this change then why not contact the Board of Education. If you see this change as a problem for you and your child/children, then why not tell someone?

To the Editor:

In your May 22 paper an article about Congresswoman Beverly Byron Walsh said that she has won six consecutive elections with "at least seventy percent of the vote." Evidently this is information her office is releasing. It is wrong.

In point of fact, Ms. Walsh's winning percentage dropped from 74.5% in the 1982 General Election to 65% in the 1984 General Election, one of the biggest drops in popularity of any Member of Congress in the country. She won 63% of the vote in Garrett County.

I know; for, I was the candidate she outspent 3-1 with over half of her money coming from political action committees. A well-financed campaign against her will lead to new and better Congressional representation for the Sixth Congressional District.

Sincerely,
Robin Ficker, Attorney

Drive For Voter Registration To Be Held Friday

The Garrett County Democratic State Central Committee will conduct a voter's registration on Friday, June 13, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Farmers' Market in Oakland.

All those interested in registering may do so, regardless of party affiliation.

Doris Goldsborough, member of the local central committee, who was named by the Maryland Democratic party to head the 1986 Voter Registration Drive in Garrett County, said there are approximately one million unregistered Marylanders which represents one-third of the voting population not on the voter rolls.

Goldsborough noted that earlier this year 908 county residents' names were removed due to the fact that they had declined to vote within the last five calendar years. Of that amount, 509 were Republicans, 356 were Democrats and 43 were not party-affiliated.

Goldsborough further emphasized that the deadline for change of party is June 16, with the last day to register to vote in the Maryland Primary being August 11. The Primary Election date is September 9 with the General election set for November 4.

The qualifications for registering to vote are: must be a citizen of the United States, must be at least 17 on registration date and be 18 by the date of the next general election, must be a resident of Garrett County, must not have been convicted of a disqualifying crime and must not be under the guardianship for mental disability.

Landfill Grant

heavy plastic liner to prevent leachate seepage into ground water, is estimated to run over $2.5 million.

Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr. stated last week, "We want to follow state regulations and we do care about the 'Save the Bay' project, but these overly stringent regulations set down by the state are greatly encumbering local governments, therefore, we must seek aid from the state."

At a press conference Tuesday, the commissioners said they intend to go back to the next General Assembly to seek additional funding for the mandated landfill.

Dad? Is That You?
by Susan Alvarez

One day, not so very long ago, the traditional speech of the delivery room nurse changed from, "Sir, you'll have to wait in the father's lounge," to "Here, put on this scrub suit before you enter the birthing room," and the role of dad has never been the same.

Yes, dad has been whisked out of the role of bottle-sterilizer and diaper service bill payer to instant strained banana stirrer and disposable diaper obtainer.

He can depend on a daughter in Little League and a son who carries a doll. If he wants to get away to the gym for a workout, he can count on the entire family being in tow.

The 80's dad has also changed in other ways. The man who once placed T.V. dinners in the oven with great trepidation is now capable of preparing dynamite Chinese dinners and creating souffles that never fall.

The Father's Day shopping list has transformed from "shirt and tie" to "jogging suit and walkman radio/cassette." Dad is definitely up and out of that armchair. He's exchanged his slippers for tennis shoes and has totally discarded the pipe.

Despite all the changes though, dad has maintained his position as backyard chef at the Father's Day picnic. Only now, he's probably using his own special, homemade barbeque sauce.

Federal Hearing Held On Impact Of Medicare Criteria To Elderly

A Congressional field hearing, chaired by Congressman Don Bonker (D-WA) and Congresswoman Beverly Byron, brought together healthcare representatives from Allegany, Washington, and Garrett counties, along with interested elderly citizens, to discuss and compare specific problems Medicare beneficiaries face in their particular county.

The hearing on Medicare Payments and Quality Health Care for Rural Older Americans was held Monday in the auditorium at Allegany Community College. Much of Monday's hearing concerned the Peer Review Organizations (PRO) which are established in Maryland to determine whether or not Medicare makes payments on individual cases.

A Washington County Hospital spokesman said 51 cases were denied payment by the Baltimore-based PRO in the past fiscal year. Of those, 80 percent of the denials were reversed upon appeal. A Garrett County Memorisl Hospital spokeswoman said in the last quarter, 17 cases had been denied payment.

Sister Cecilia, Sacred Heart Hospital's administrator, said denials of Medicare payments are extremely painful psychologically to patients. It was pointed out at the hearing that 25 percent of Western Maryland's population is aged 65 or older.

Larry Beck, administrator of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, said he has told the doctors at Garrett Memorial to do whatever is medically necessary for patients and "we'll do the fighting (for Medicare payments) later."

Beck said the PROs are geared to quantity of care and not quality. He called them inflexible and said that when called will invariably say no to any bending of the criteria used to allow payment.

State Senator John N. Bambacus testified at the hearing, saying that a great deal of work has been done to improve health care for elderly persons statewide and to provide for the special needs of the rural elderly population.

He stated that the United States Congress, House Select Committee on Aging, of which Byron and Bonker are members, is doing significant and substantial work, but that states are also facing challenges to provide policy addressing health care needs of elderly persons in rural areas.

"Maryland has shown, that despite obstacles, limited resources, and a critical demand for services, the state can respond innovatively and effectively to our elderly citizen's health care needs. Indeed, under the new federalism, we must work harder than ever to do our job," the senator testified.

He noted that substantial progress can be documented in Maryland. For example the state's Gateway II Program, administered by the state's Office of Aging. This program provides "gap-filling funds" where the social services agencies and health institutions leave off.

One suggestion offered to the panel of witnesses from the state and federal government was for the federal government to turn the money already saved by cutting Medicare payments back into the health care system at another level to assist patients.

A point of agreement among health officials from the Western Maryland counties throughout the hearing was that the stringent Medicare criteria used in approving or denying payments to health care providers are having a negative impact on patients.

American Tree Farm System, in which the Stacys competed, includes 4,465 certified tree farms. Nationally there are 58,000.

The American Tree Farm System is managed by the American Forest Council under the sponsorship of the American Forest Foundation. Funds for the program come from forest industry, forestry landowners and others interested in encouraging good forestry on private lands.

In Maryland, particularly for the western counties, Kenneth J. Roberts of Cumberland serves as regional chairman for the American Tree Farm System. Besides working with the Stacys this year, Roberts has organized the first regional Tree farm awards dinner, to be held this Friday, June 13, at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club in Cumberland.

Guest speaker at the affair will be Lester DeCoster, vice president of the tree farm and productivity programs at the American Forest Council in Washington, D.C. DeCoster was also one of the tree farm contest's judges.

Recently retired Maryland forester, Paul Mateer, of Oakland, nominated the Stacys as outstanding Garrett County tree farmers.

Neil Flanagan, Former Local Actor, Dies

Neil Flanagan, a successful actor and director whose early career included several years of performing with the Garrett County Playhouse, died last Friday at his home in Los Angeles, where he had resided since 1977.

Flanagan came to Garrett County in 1956 and performed during the first few seasons of the Garrett County Playhouse. He then made a number of return visits through the late 1970s. He went on to win an Obie award in 1967 for his starring role in Lanford Wilson's "Madness of Lady Bright."

Flanagan won a second Obie Award in 1976 for his contributions over a 10-year period to Off Off Broadway theatre. He also performed in "Knock, Knock" by Jules Feiffer, "The Secret Affairs of Mildred Wild" by Paul Zindel, Art Buchwald's "Sheep on the Runway," and a number of other Off and Off Off Broadway plays, plus several roles in movies in television programs.

Born in Springfield, Ill., and reared in St. Louis, Flanagan went to New York in 1955. His first major role was in "The Madness of Lady Bright," playing Lady Bright.

Flanagan is survived by his wife, Jackie, his mother, Cecelia McCabe, and a brother, Martin McCabe, both of St. Louis.

According to a family spokesman, Flanagan was suffering from AIDS.

Evans went on to say that detailed information must be given when reporting abuse. He said, "Police officers need this in order to perform their duties efficiently and properly."

He stressed the fact that police officers have the authority to remove children from their homes only if they are in immediate danger. If this cannot be determined, the case is turned over to the Department of Social Services for a continued investigation and home study.

Parent Volunteers At Friendsville School Honored

A luncheon honoring the parent volunteers of Friendsville Elementary School was held recently at the school. Forty-three parents donated their services, with two parents donating over 400 hours and two parents donating from 200 to 300 hours. Those donating over 400 hours were Mrs. Judy Livengood and Mrs. Phyllis Kahl. Mrs. Sharon Hoover and Mrs. Vickie Schroyer each donated from 200 to 300 hours of their time.

Special guests at the luncheon were Senator John Bambacus, Delegate George Edwards, Commissioner John Braskey, Mayor Spencer Schlossnagle, Assistant Superintendent Albert R. Ringer, Sandra Nesline and Barbara Flinn, resource teachers, and PTA president Ross Glotfelty.

Following the luncheon, a program was held to present the Flag of Liberty and Learning to the school. Students from each grade spoke on the theme "What Education Means to Me."

Principal Jane G. Fox explained what each section of the flag represented. A red horizontal stripe across the top depicts the strength of a democratic life, while a blue stripe at the bottom represents stability and opportunity of a strong educational system. The center field of white conveys the virtue and aspiration of a free people.

An emblem in the center features two gold flames, one for learning and one for liberty. These flames are supported by a base of alternating blue and red elements. The blue elements represent the two key foundations of strong education, high expectations and effective teaching. The red elements symbolize the cornerstone institutions of a democratic society, responsible families and involved communities.

Mrs. Fox stated that the flag which was presented to the school will be flown with the American and Maryland flags in front of the school. Classroom flags were purchased by the PTA to call attention to students of the importance of their education to their future lives.

Upon her graduation she received the Lions Club Achievement Award for Journalism, Lions Club Achievement award for Business Education, State of Maryland Merit Scholarship Award, and the Presidential Academic Fitness Award.

This scholarship, which is based on academic achievement, is sponsored by members of the Board of Trustees of the College. Two scholarships are to be given each year to a graduate of each of the local high schools.

On Dean's List

Gregory P. Flinn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Flinn, Oakland Drive, Oakland, received word recently that he had been named to the dean's list at Grove City (Pa.) College.

Flinn is majoring in electrical engineering. He is a graduate of Southern High School.

The Lonaconing Republican Club has scheduled a meeting for Thursday, June 19, at 8 p.m., with Senator John N. Bambacus, District 1, as speaker, according to Marvin Shockey, club president.

Bambacus is assigned to the Senate Economic and Environmental Affairs Committee and the Joint Committee on Federal Relations. Other statutory committee assignments have been to the Governor's Task Force on State Support for Volunteer Fire, Rescue and Ambulance Companies, the Subcommittee on Transportation for the Handicapped, and the Hazardous and Toxic Materials Study Commission.

In 1979, Bambacus joined the staff of U.S. Senator Charles McC Mathias Jr. as statewide campaign director. In August 1984 he was elected delegate to the Republican National Convention.

Shockey invites members and guests to attend. Light refreshments will be served.

Local Realtors Attend Meeting

Several local realtors recently attended a meeting at the Sheraton in Hagerstown to hear representatives from the Maryland Association of Realtors discuss a new standardized format for real estate purchase contracts.

Local members of the Garrett County Board of Realtors attending were Jan Bernard (Garrettland Realty), Bob Huebner (Deep Creek Realty), Tom Bernard (Bernard Realty), and Karen Spiker (A&A Realty).

Benefits of the same real estate purchase contract being used throughout the State include less confusion among the public and salespeople, rather than handling, reading, and trying to understand many different versions of the purchase contract, said Spiker.

Copies of the new format were distributed, along with copies of standardized formats for purchase contract addendums.

Flags Presented To Youghiogheny Visitors Center

American, Maryland, and Garrett County flags were presented to the Youghiogheny Overlook Tourist Information Center along U.S. Rt. 48 near Friendsville during a recent ceremony. The Maryland Highway Department installed two new poles from which the new flags will wave.

Charlie Miller, a member of the Friendsville Rotary club who has shown considerable interest in the tourist center, contacted Senator John Bambacus about having the Maryland flag flown over the center with the American and County flags.

Bill and Hazel Meyers, Friendsville residents and members of the Disabled American Veterans Mt. Top Chapter 29 and Auxiliary, coordinated a program for the flag presentations.

Senator Bambacus presented the American and Maryland flags to Paula Nealis, a member of the tourist center staff. Also present for the ceremony were Delegate George Edwards, Friendsville Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle, Rev. Edward Meyers of the Friendsville United Methodist Charge, Charlie Miller, Jim Shipe, president of Chapter 245, Vietnam Veterans of America, Robin Tichnell, supervisor of the center, and the rest of the center staff.

The color guard for the ceremony was formed by members of Chapter 245, Vietnam Veterans of America.

FLAGS PRESENTED — The Youghiogheny Overlook Tourist Information Center, located along U.S. Rt. 48 near Friendsville, was the recent recipient of American, Maryland, and Garrett County flags. A special ceremony was performed to accompany the presentation and first display of the flags on new poles erected by the State Highway Administration. Correction Noted

In last week's issue of The Republican it was reported in a photo cutline that members of Proctor Kildow Post 71 were responsible for the rifle salute during Oakland's annual Memorial Day service. It should have given credit for the salute to members of the local VFW Post. We regret the error.

IN LOVING MEMORY

Of Clarence "Bud" Deal, who passed away on June 14, 1984.

I Needed The Quiet

I needed the quiet, so He drew me aside,
Into the shadows where we could confide.
Away from the bustle where all the day long,
I hurried and worried when active and strong.
I needed the quiet, though at first I rebelled,
But gently, so gently, my cross He upheld.
And whispered so sweetly of spiritual things,
Then weakened in body, my spirit took wings.
To heights never dreamed of, when active and gay,
He loved me so greatly, He drew me away.
I needed the quiet, no prison my bed,
But a beautiful valley of blessings instead.
A place to grow richer, in Jesus to hide,
I needed the quiet so He drew me inside.

The Department of Natural Resources, Law Enforcement Division, in cooperation with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is planning a boating safety course to be held June 21 and 22 between the hours of 1 and 3 p.m each day at the reservoir manager's office at Bloomington Lake.

Shreve Awarded Full Scholarship By Mountaineers

Benny Shreve, who set a number of baseball records at Garrett Community College over the past two seasons, was recently awarded a full scholarship to West Virginia University for his remaining two years of college.

Shreve, who was ranked as high as sixth in the nation at one point this past season in batting proficiency with an incredible .502 record, was among the 1986 graduates of GCC, having earned a 3.0 grade point average and an AA degree in physical education.

A native of Shinnston, W.Va., and a 1984 graduate of Lincoln High School, Shreve was named the Lakers' MVP this year, having served as co-captain. He was also named to the second team All Region for the second year in a row.

As a freshman, Shreve set a GCC record for most hits with 64 and most runs scored with 53. He broke both of those marks as a sophomore this past season with 65 hits and 55 runs scored, giving him GCC career records in those categories with a total of 129 hits and 108 runs scored. He also holds the career record for triples with 10 and single season record of six.

He also smacked 14 homeruns in his two years at Garrett, recorded 71 RBIs, walked 51 times, stole 35 bases in 38 attempts, and struck out only 20 times in 316 at-bats. His career batting average of .408 was second only to former Laker Ted Sova's mark of .413.

Shreve started every game for the Lakers in his two seasons, spending most of his time at short stop, plus some limited action at second base. According to the coaching staff at WVU, Shreve will most likely step right into the Mountaineers program as a starter and possibly the lead-off or number three hitter.

"Benny is what coaches call a 'dream player'," stated Lawrence Nesselrodt, GCC coach. "He gave 100 percent all the time, both on and off the field. He is a real superstar and I know that the WVU coaches are excited to have him on their roster."

Oakland Jumps To First Place In Pen-Mar

Oakland jumped into first place overall in the Pen-Mar Baseball League this past weekend by smashing LaVale in both ends of a doubleheader, 16-5 and 12-4, in Oakland.

The local team will return to action this Sunday afternoon in Westernport by facing Tri-Towns, 4-2, in a 2 p.m. doubleheader.

Mike Matthews provided three singles which chased home three runs for Oakland in the first game against LaVale. Mike Gustave smacked a three-run homer and a two-run double, and Ed Wildesen rapped a two-run blast as the Oaks recorded 11 runs.

Meanwhile, starting pitcher Mike Brady and reliever John Helmick, who came on the mound in the sixth, gave up only five hits, three of which were to Eric Stakem.

The Oakland bats continued to hammer the ball in the night-cap, as Gustave added another home run and Wayne Brown recorded three hits.

Helmick picked up the win on the mound for Oakland after receiving some relief help from Gustave in the fourth. Rock Ellsworth absorbed the loss for LaVale.

Tri-Towns will come into Sunday's contest against Oakland after splitting a doubleheader with Cumberland.

Several Injured In Area Mishaps

Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment this week reported several motor vehicle accidents which resulted in hospitalization.

A two-vehicle accident occurred Monday on U.S. Route 219.

Police said Norman T. Morrison, 56, McHenry, was pulling from the Lakeview Exxon parking lot to travel across Route 219. He was operating a 1982 Chevrolet S-10. Terry W. Chapman, 21, Oakland, was southbound on Route 219 in a 1986 Nissan truck.

According to police, Morrison failed to yield the right of way, and the two vehicles collided, causing Morrison's vehicle to overturn.

Tfc. R.C. Resh investigated, charging Morrison with failing to yield the right of way.

Both Morrison and Chapman were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad. According to a spokesman at that hospital, Chapman was treated and released, while Morrison was admitted and later discharged.

A single-vehicle accident occurred Friday on Route 48.

Police said Morris D. Alexander, 32, Lexington, Ky., was westbound in a 1984 Mack truck when it ran off the right side. When Alexander attempted to re-enter the roadway, the vehicle struck the guardrail, rolled backward, and overturned.

Tfc. R.J. Resh investigated, charging Alexander with negligent driving.

Alexander was transported to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was admitted and later discharged.

A single-vehicle accident occurred Friday in Friendsville.

According to police, William R. Harshbarger, 82, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., was traveling west on Maple Street in a 1978 Ford Granada when it left the road and struck an embankment.

Tfc. R.J. Resh investigated, reporting that Harshbarger apparently became ill and passed out.

Harshbarger was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was admitted and later discharged, according to a spokesman there.

Paul R. Lee, 19, Kitzmiller, was admitted to Garrett Memorial following a June 5 motorcycle mishap, and was later released according to a hospital spokesman.

Tfc. L. Rosage, who investigated, said Lee lost control of the vehicle and it overturned.

A two-vehicle accident June 4 in Mtn. Lake Park apparently resulted in only minor injuries.

Police said Martin W. Sharpless, 16, Oakland, was operating a 1979 Ford Mustang which began skidding and went through a stop sign, striking a 1968 Chevrolet pickup truck driven by Carl E. Niner, 48, Mtn. Lake Park.

Cpl. Richard Graham investigated, charging Sharpless with failing to stop at a stop sign.

A single-vehicle accident occurred Friday on the Swanton Hill Road.

According to police reports, Ronald S. Smith, 25, Cumberland, was operating a 1984 Jeep Cherokee when an eastbound vehicle forced him off the road. The Jeep then struck a guardrail and overturned.

Police said the other vehicle was driven by Janet L. Cooper, 29, Barton. She was charged with crossing the center line by Tfc. L. Rosage, who investigated the mishap.

A single-vehicle accident Saturday resulted in a driver being charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Police said Joseph M. Matthews Jr., 18, Oakland, was operating a 1985 Buick Skyhawk on the Cranesville Road when it ran off the right side, striking an embankment and several trees.

Tfc. David W. Broadwater investigated, charging Matthews with leaving the roadway and DWI.

Callis To Retire From C&P After 35-Year Career

Carl Callis, Deer Park, will retire from the C & P Telephone Company after 35 and one-half years of service, effective June 14, 1986.

Callis began working as a lineman for the company on November 6, 1950. During that time he has also been a splicer's helper and an installer/repairman. He worked four years with the West Virginia C & P Company. He received a plaque from the company for 20 year's perfect attendance and has had a perfect driving record with the company for 35 years. He has served 15 years as Mountain Council Telephone Pioneer and has been a member of CWA Local 2107 for 35 and one-half years.

The retiree says he has seen a lot of people come and go with the company for the past 35 years. "There were some special times," he said. Times like working through national disasters in Maryland and West Virginia with my co-workers. We've seen it all - tornados, hurricanes, sleet and especially the flood of 1985."

Callis is a 25-year member of the Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department and a member of VFW Post No. 10077.

He is married to the former Nina Bernard and they are the parents of four sons, Dick, Don, Kevin and Fred. They have two grandsons and two step-granddaughters.

Following his retirement, Callis plans to "take it easy, work around the house and do some traveling."

The crime occurred between April 10 and April 17. Unknown persons entered the cottage through a rear window and then removed several personal items including photo equipment, frames and appliances.

All leads in this case have been exhausted, and Crime Solvers is seeking the help of the public.

Crime Solvers is offering a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and indictment of the criminal in this case. Crime Solvers also pays cash rewards for information leading to the capture of wanted persons in other unsolved homicides, rapes, burglaries and aggravated assaults.

All information will be kept confidential, and the caller may remain anonymous. Information will be given by calling 301-334-1975.

School Hours For Summer Period Noted By Board

According to a spokesman for the Garrett County Board of Education, the administrative offices of Northern Middle School, Northern High School, Southern Middle School, Broad Ford Elementary School and Dennett Road Elementary School will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. from June 11 to August 27. These summer hours provide the opportunity for both students and parents to discuss school concerns.

The Garrett County Board of Education central office building will be open during the same period from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Golden Chain Club To Meet

The Golden Chain Club will meet Tuesday, June 17, at 1 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church in the social center, according to a spokesman from the club.

Each person attending is asked to bring a small, wrapped gift to be used as a Bingo prize, the spokesman noted.

Musical Comedy To Be Presented At Alpine Lake

Stage Left Theatre, of Cumberland, will give four performances of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" at Alpine Lake Resort, near Terra Alta. Curtain time is 8 p.m. on June 20, 21, 27, and 28.

The play has been called by critics as "the musical for those who don't like musicals." The plot revolves around nonsense, slapstick, and a final chase scene that is a cross between the Marx Brothers and the Keystone Cops.

The story, set in ancient Rome, concerns the connivings of a certain slave, Pseudolus, who wants to achieve his freedom. His young master, Hero, promises to grant Pseudolus his freedom if he can obtain for him the beautiful girl, Philia. To complicate matters, Philia has already been sold to a vulgar Roman captain, Miles Glorisusis. Miles arrives to claim his bride, but instead gets another slave, Hysterium, in disguise. At the same time, Hero's father, Sennex, believes the young girl Philia is a new maid and leechery abounds. Of course, Domina, Hero's mother, wants nothing to do with the new girl.

The productions are being directed by Tom Valentine, with musical direction by Craig Shultz. Desiree Witt is the choreographer and Ron Horning is technical director.

Persons may make reservations for the performances by calling 789-2481.

Gospel Sing Slated

A gospel sing will be held Sunday, June 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the Loch Lynn Evangelical Free Church, according to a church spokesman.

The spokesman said that some local singing talent would be participating in the sing. They include: Joe DiSimone, Charles Trout, Leo Friend Sr., Rodney Durst, Carolyn Helbig, Dave Callis and Jeremy Vance.

Correction Noted

A headline announcing the date for the upcoming Historical Society annual dinner which appeared in last week's edition of The Republican was incorrect. The correct date, which was listed in the story, should be Thursday, June 26. The dinner will be held at the Bittinger Community Building. The cost is $7 per person. Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Carl Cathell, Rt. 5, Box 30, Oakland, Md., 21550.

Dates Changed By Friendsville Town Council

The Friendsville Mayor and Town Council met June 2 and 3 with one topic of business being a change in future meeting dates.

Due to the excessive work load and the late hours of the council meetings, the council decided to reschedule the council meetings. The meeting devoted to general affairs will continue to be held the first Monday of every month at 8 p.m.

However, the water and sewer meeting will no longer be held the following Tuesday, but rather will be scheduled for the third Tuesday of every month, the time remaining the same.

Meetings for the month of July will be: general, July 7, 8 p.m.; water and sewer, July 17, 8 p.m.

Council announced that street paving has been started and should be completed in the near future.

A summer youth program in Friendsville will begin June 18 and run through August 22.

Two public hearings will be held June 30 pertaining to the proposed fiscal budget for the 1986-87 year.

Beginning at 7:30 p.m., a hearing regarding the use for the remaining Federal Revenue Sharing funds will be held, followed at 8 p.m. by a hearing for both the general and water and sewer funds.

The town has agreed to hire the services of Clifford Stumpf for techinical assistance at the water and sewer plant, and Jeanne C. Devine, CPA, to perform the yearly audit this year.

Rotarians Seek Businessmen For Brazil Visit

Rotarians of Rotary International District 735, which includes the Oakland Rotary Club, are seeking five outstanding young business and professional men to visit Brazil in January-February, 1987 under the Group Study Exchange Program of the Rotary Foundation, according to a spokesman from that club.

The program strives to improve international understanding by enabling young people from different countries to learn from each other, said the spokesman. The awards involve exchaning teams of business and professional persons between 25-35 years of age for four to six-weeks visits.

While abroad, team members observe their hosts' way of life as well as study the nation's economic, social and cultural characteristics through travel and discussions within participating Rotary districts. Team members also have the opportunity to meet their professional counterparts.

For additional information contact Kenneth E. Ridder, President of the Rotary Club of Oakland, 301-334-3828 or George Settlemyer, District 735, Group Exchange Chairman at P.O. GCMH Employees Of Month Noted

Employees of the month for April and May were selected recently at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Chosen for the month of April was Joseph W. Myers, nursing assistant and five-year employee of the hospital. Selected for the month of May was K. Sue Savage from the radiology department, a seven-year employee of the hospital.

Before moving to Garrett County, Myers lived in Baltimore and worked at Johns Hopkins Hospital, where he received his nursing technician diploma. He then worked for General Motors in Baltimore for eight years.

He enjoys playing the guitar, woodcrafting, fishing, hunting, and spending time with his family.

Myers said, "It was a surprise to me and very unexpected. Even with all the complexities of today's medical field, it's a great feeling to be a part of the modern pace in medical technology."

Charlotte Bock, Director of Nursing, stated, "Joe Myers has been a member of the nursing team for five years. He always has a willing, cooperative attitude, and is well liked by his co-workers. He is a dedicated and hard working employee."

Savage came to Garrett County in 1974 and graduated from Southern High School in 1976. She then attended Radiology School in Harrisburg, Pa., and returned to Garrett County in 1978. After working here for three years, she attended Ultrasound School in Pensacola, Florida. She is a certified Radiologic Technologist, and is certified by the American Registry of Diagnostic Medical Sonography with specialities in OB/GYN, Abdominal and Physics.

Savage enjoys skiing, tennis, volleyball, and horses, which she shows professionally.

Savage said, "It's an honor and it's nice for one to be recognized for all the long and hard hours that are put in over the years. I take pride in my work, the hospital, and in providing the best patient care."

Rick Shaffer, Director of Radiology, said "Sue is certainly a pleasure to work with. Her proficiency in ultrasound has made her an asset not only to radiology but the entire medical community. Physicians have come to rely upon her a great deal."

Insurance Rate Guide Available Free Of Charge

Maryland's Insurance Commissioner Edward J. Muhl has published a Consumer Rate Guide of automobile and homeowner policies for the companies who write the majority of personal lines insurance coverages in the State of Maryland.

Muhl advised that this is not an all-inclusive list as there are a number of licensed companies that are not referenced in the rate guide.

"It is important that the consumer shop around for a company which can best fill their individual insurance needs. By shopping around, our citizens can get the most for their insurance dollar," Muhl said.

The Commissioner indicated that rates and benefits offered vary considerably from company to company. Muhl cited an example of homeowners rates in Baltimore City for a masonry dwelling valued at $60,000, the premium charge ranged from $103 a year to $219 a year.

The free guides are available in the Commissioner's Office at 501 St. Paul Place, 7th Floor, Baltimore, Maryland 21202 and will be mailed by calling 1-800-492-6116.

PRESELCTING A FUNERAL HOME

There are a number of important advantages to choosing a funeral home in advance of death. To begin with, it will enable you to find the one that best suits your needs. As with most other professions, there is a whole range to choose from. With a little effort on your part, you can surely find a funeral home that will offer the arrangements you want, at what you feel is a fair price.

Having pre-selected a funeral home can be especially helpful if you or a loved one dies away from home. They can help make arrangements with a funeral home where the death took place. If the place was another country, this is doubly true. Our country's embassy or consulate abroad MUST have the name of a funeral home in the home city in order to ship the body. Having named one will save the survivors from having to investigatge and decide upon a funeral home under pressure of haste and grief.

Southern Middle School Holds Arts Festival

Southern Middle School held its first Arts Festival on Wednesday evening, May 28 at the school. The festival was coordinated by Marcette Danner, art instructor at SMS.

Many departments within the school curriculum participated in the festival to display their projects or present their talents.

Art Exhibit

The art room, media center and halls were turned into a giant art gallery called the "Rainbow Gallery." A total of 1,047 pieces of student art work were displayed representing the year's creative effort of Southern Middle School's 760 plus sixth, seventh and eighth grade students.

Many techniques were displayed, including: ceramics, weaving, tissue stained glass windows, rainbow paintings, murals and drawings.

The art room housed a display of fluorescent tempera paintings which were illuminated in the darkness by black lights.

Atom models

Drawings and models were made by the students of 8-B. They were representations of various elements in the Periodic Table, according to Brooke Green, teacher.

Each student researched one of the 108 elements, drew its atomic structure, then devised a three-dimension model of the element's subatomic particles.

The materials and methods of execution were creative including: marshmallows, pom poms, styrofoam balls, macaroni, Fruit Loops and pearls.

Literature Projects

Sarah Ramsey's language arts classes, 8A-1, 8A-2 and 8A-4/5, exhibited several of their projects from their literature studies this year.

In celebration of the anniversary of the birth and death of Mark Twain and the 100th anniversary of the publication of Huckleberry Finn, students made pieced, quilted wall hangings commemorating important events from Twain's life and works.

The students also made original poetry books. Each student wrote a poem expressing his or her ideas about a color. The poems were decorated and handcolored by the students and bound with a cover and signature page. Each student received a copy of the book.

Calligraphy

Suzie Sincell's eighth grade language arts classes learned the history of calligraphy and did general and specific writing exercises both in and out of class.

The students learned the three styles of printing, the chancery italic hand, the gothic hand and the uncial hand. They measured and practiced for spacing.

Their culminating project was a poster of original water color design and a poem by a well-known author. The students chose their own poems from a poetry collection from which they were familiar. "The results were nothing less than fabulous," said Mrs. Sincell.

Colonial Display

Gary Thompson's 8-B students displayed two handmade Colonial quilts. Each student contributed a square they had made pertaining to their area of research of Colonial America.

The students also displayed their handmade Colonial wall hangings depicting factual information for each of the 13 original colonies, i.e., state bird, map, flower.

They also compiled a Colonial cookbook incorporating recipes for each of the 13 colonies. Recipes from the cookbook were used for the students' Colonial Day Dinner held at the school on May 17.

Related Arts

Related arts classes from all grade levels displayed and demonstrated techniques used throughout the year.

Foods - Refrigerator cookie making was demonstrated. Onlookers sampled the freshly baked cookies and were served punch.

Industrial arts - On display were student-crafted bookends and plaques on which a design had been punched with a small screwdriver. The screwdrivers were also made by the students.

Also displayed were other projects, like the wooden windmills made by some of the students. Some students also designed and built a wooden car and designed their dream house.

Music students demonstrated the playing of various band instruments.

Model Club

Students in the Model Club displayed their plastic models as their part of the Arts Festival. The students had all been recommended by teachers to be in the club with the understanding that they would continue in good standing in their school work.

Students displaying were: Jerry Baker, Dan Cottrell, Kevin Crouse, Bryan Frazee, Chris Kitzmiller, Tony Ludwig, Rick Miller, Scott Moon, Henry Moore, Shane Skipper, Jeremy Smith and Matt Wilt.

Talent Performance

Some students who had participated in the talent show in April gave repeat performances during the Arts Festival.

They included: "The Dream Team," with Chris Lambert, Mike Friend and Mike Hornyak; Amy Piper and her puppet friend; Tammy Hudnall, Heather Savage, Nancy Alvarez, "The West End Girls," with Chris McManee, Jennifer Thorn, Shannon Mahoney and Stephanie Smith; Barbara Leininger, "Leather and Lace," with Cindy Drefhall, Penny Rinker, Jenny Draper, Angie Bittinger, and Tracie Teagarden.

Jamie Ashby and Nancy Alvarez gave the commercials and Samantha Groves was stage coordinator.

The theme is "Especially for Children (of All Ages)" and entries are invited. What's New In Portable Appliances

The average United States home owns thirteen portable appliances. One-half of all households own a blender, can opener, coffeemaker, corn popper, frypan, mixer, toaster, curling iron, hand-held dryer and iron. To keep this industry moving, new innovations and trends are constantly introduced.

One of the newest trends is under-the-cabinet or on-the-wall installation. The purpose of these designs is to clear the clutter on kitchen counters and reduce the amount of unused kitchen space. Consumers can choose from drip coffeemakers, electric knives, can openers, hand mixers, toaster ovens and toasters.

Another innovation does away with the electric cord. Most cordless appliances are motor-driven. The rechargable batteries which are built into the power-storage base recharge overnight and usually last from five to seven years. Look for can openers, electric knives, mixers, toothbrushes, and irons. Space age technology through electronics is being applied to portable appliances. New innovations include ready lights, automatic shutoff on curling irons, irons, mixers and frypans; built-in timers and clocks on coffeemakers and electronic speed controls on appliances that mix.

Some models of small appliances are being reduced in size due to smaller kitchens and families, lighter meals and meals that are eaten on staggered schedules. Examples include two and four cup coffeemakers, hot beverage makers, compact food processors and compact travel appliances with fold-away handles.

You may also notice that many small appliances now feature rounded shapes and smooth lines following a European trend. White and almond are the most popular colors for kitchen appliances.

Consumers concern for the quality of indoor air has led to the introduction of air cleaners sometimes combined with heaters, electric space heaters and humidifiers.

Food Notes

Here's a good dessert recipe that you can try using some of those delicious fresh strawberries that are now available:

Super Strawberry Pie

1 package (3 ounces) strawberry flavored gelatin
⅔ cup boiling water
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1¾ cups thawed whipped topping
1 cup diced strawberries
1 baked pie crust

Dissolve gelatin completely in boiling water, stirring three minutes. Add ice cream by spoonfuls, stirring until melted and smooth. Blend in whipped topping; fold in fruit. Chill, if necessary, until mixture will mound. Spoon into pie crust. Chill about three hours or freeze until firm.

Teen Challenge Official To Speak In Kitzmiller

H. Mason Sorensen, assistant director of Teen Challenge of Maryland, Inc., will be the guest speaker on June 15, at 10 a.m. at Kitzmiller Assembly of God.

Teen Challenge is a unique Christian ministry that helps young people with life controlling problems such as drugs and alcohol. With a documented 86% cure rate, it is claimed to be the most successful rehabilitation program in existence today.

Sorensen joined the staff at the Teen Challenge Induction Center in August 1984. He and his wife, Joan, and three small children are former residents of Snoqualmie, Wash., where Sorensen was employed by the Weyerhauser Company.

Sorensen was converted in 1976 at a Billy Graham Crusade held in the Kingdome in Seattle, Washington. Prior to his conversion he led a very stormy life which included periods of incarceration in over a dozen jails, and living in a truck from which he dealt drugs during the hippie era of the 1960's.

Sorensen is a graduate of the Berean School of the Bible with a diploma in Ministerial Studies. He has directed a christian ministry at Washington State's largest correctional facility and worked as a counselor in a juvenile detention home.

Sorensen has spoken on radio and television and ministered in churches and to para-church organizations. His present ministry includes administering the daily operation of the Teen Challenge Center in the Washington, D.C. area.

Working with Rev. Mike Zello, the Executive Director of Teen Challenge of Maryland and pastor of New Life Assembly, Sorensen has been involved in inter-city evangelism and the establishment of a flourishing cross-cultural church body.

The commissioners explained their positions on maintaining budget priorities, i.e., low constant yield tax rates for property owners, good road maintenance, solid waste disposal and educational budgets.

All speakers discussed the activities of their respective offices and fielded questions from the club members.

During the business portion of the meeting, a report was given on the Western Regional Meeting of the Maryland Federation Republican Women's Club held May 17 in Frederick. Attending from the Northern Club were: M. Evelyn Younkin, president; Carolyn Ganoe, immediate past president; Cleda Baker, past president and publicity chairman, and Stella Edwards, mother of Delegate Edwards.

Carolyn Ganoe was appointed chairman of the nominating committee to recommend the person to serve as the next Western Regional director.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

What can you tell me about Rob Stone, the hunky actor who plays Kevin Owens in "Mr. Belvedere"? I'm in love with him and want to know everything! — R.D.H. — Laurinburg, N.C.

Rob Stone

I don't know if I can tell you everything, but here are some basics. The actor hails from Dallas, where his father, Dr. Marvin J. Stone, is director of Sammons Cancer Center at Baylor Hospital. His mother, Jill, is a published author and is a researcher at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas.

After being named a member of Who's Who in American High School Students for two consecutive years, Stone was accepted to the University of Southern California's School of Drama. While there, he appeared in more than 16 stage productions.

Stone has appeared in three films, including the male lead in "Angel Alley," which won first place in the U.S.A. Film Festival of 1984. The actor has also appeared in "The Facts of Life" and "Trauma Center."

Is "Moonlighting" star Bruce Willis the brother of "9 1/2 Weeks" star Mickey Rourke? They look so much alike. — D.O.D., Providence, R.I.

Sorry, D.O.D., but the actors are not related.

I'm having a fight with Mom. She insists Karen Carpenter scored a hit with "Blame It on the Bossa Nova." I say it's Janis Joplin. Help! — M.K.L. — Jamestown, N.Y.

You are both wrong! The 1963 smash was a biggie for Mrs. Steve Lawrence, a.k.a Eydie Gorme.

(Do you have a question about TV? Write Val Carew at 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally, but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

After several bizarre home "accidents" and an avalanche of malevolent mail points to murder in her home town of Cabot Cove, Jessica (Angela Lansbury) seeks the aid of Doc Seth Hazlitt (William Windom) to assist her in solving the vicious crimes, in CBS's "Murder, She Wrote," airing Sunday, June 15.

Trio of vintage flicks finally on home video

By Marc Minnelli

They are not "Gone with the Wind" or "The Best Years of Our Lives" or "Casablanca." They are sleepers, rarely seen and often underrated. But they are just as riveting as their big-time counterparts. These three '40s films — "Dark Waters," "The Enchanted Forest" and "Railroaded" — are finally available on home video and movie mavens can have the chance to explore excellent examples of three post-war film genres.

Merle Oberon in "Dark Waters"

The movies, part of New World Video's Vintage Collection, have been restored by the film archives at the University of California at Los Angeles. Each sells for $24.95.

"Dark Waters" (1944), starring Merle Oberon and Franchot Tone, is a classic psychological thriller. A fake aunt and uncle attempt to drive a young heiress to suicide, hoping to inherit her $500,000 estate. This well-paced film, directed by Andre de Toth, is rife with suspense.

"The Enchanted Forest" (1945) is a color fantasy even Uncle Walt would have loved. A young boy, lost in a vast redwood forest, is raised for the first five years of his life by an old hermit and his menagerie. The Lew Landers-directed film boasts no big-time stars, but with such co-stars as Blackie the Crow, Bruno the Dog, Tippie the Fox and Mr. Green, a weather-predicting frog, who cares? A quintessential '40s fantasy.

In "Railroaded," Hugh Beaumont stars as a police lieutenant who's trying to clear his girlfriend's brother of murder. In the process, he disinters a grimy underworld, swarming with gangsters, shadows and murder. This is no "Little Caesar" or "The Maltese Falcon," but it's still an excellent example of film noir.

New World is planning three more vintage releases for September: "The Wife of Monte Cristo," a 1946 swashbuckler starring Eva Gabor; "Queen of Burlesque," a 1946 [illegible] starring Cliff Robertson Young and "A Wave, a Wac and a Marine," a 1944 comedy starring Henny Youngman and Elyse Knox, who is Mark Harmon's mother.

Audiences find it hard to label Lithgow

By Ian Harmer

HOLLYWOOD — After a succession of memorable movie and TV appearances in the past several years, the only thing that can be said — with certainty — is that John Lithgow is totally unpredictable.

John Lithgow

Producers don't find him to be that way, of course — he's constantly in demand for projects for the big and little screen, and can always be relied on for a first-rate performance. It's the audience that might be having a hard time finding a neat and tidy slot for Lithgow's numerous personae. And by keeping moviegoers and viewers in a constant state of mild bafflement, the actor's upholding a tradition which dates back to pre-Shakespearean days.

For instance, there hasn't been a loonier tune in any movie than Lithgow's crazed inventor in the 1984 film "Buckaroo Banzai," and he flipped his lid so convincingly in his segment of "Twilight Zone, The Movie" (1983) that it's amazing he was ever released from his straight-jacket after filming was done.

Then there is the parade of more "normal" roles, in such movies as "Terms of Endearment" (1983) and the recently-released "The Manhattan Project." In the film, Lithgow plays a dedicated, introverted scientist who unwittingly enables a teenage science student to build his own atomic bomb. The film is "War Games" in slow motion, and even Lithgow concedes that it may not be fast-paced and action-packed enough to turn on the teens who monopolize today's box office.

"I watched it with a preview audience of college kids, and some of them said they thought it was too subtle," he says. "I'm not sure if that's a criticism or not."

In the wake of Chernobyl, a movie about the risks posed by nuclear materials in our midst may get an extra boost at the box office. Explains Lithgow: "I try not to think of how well or badly a film may do. The way I look at it, an actor gets off the train long before it pulls into the station. We all like to be associated with success, and we try to assume we're making a blockbuster while we're working on it."

Lithgow's current project is "Harry and the Hendersons," the latest offering under Steven Spielberg's banner. Thus, it's cloaked in CIA-style secrecy. But we did find out one thing: "Harry" is an eight-foot tall hairy monster."

MacGyver (Richard Dean Anderson) faces his most deadly challenge as he desperately fights to keep a nuclear reactor from exploding, in the "Flame's End" episode of ABC's "MacGyver," Wednesday, June 18.

Teaching fitness helps Gagnier stay in shape

By Renee Ross

Working out is much more than just a hobby to Holly Gagnier.

Holly Gagnier

"Exercise is my vice and my therapy," says the 25-year-old actress, who plays Ivy on "Days of Our Lives."

"Exercise is where I realize all my frustrations and happiness. Lots of people use other things — drugs, alcohol, food, their mate, family or friends — to dump problems and frustrations on. Of course, relationships are vital, but you'll be better able to deal with life if you 'dump your garbage' through exercise."

Gagnier juggles her busy acting schedule with a six-times-a-week stint as a fitness instructor at the star-studded Jane Fonda Workout Center in Beverly Hills.

"Some people are amazed that I can both work on the show and teach aerobics," she says, "but I can't imagine life without aerobics. Teaching it is like icing on the cake. The only time it feels like work is when I have to show up for an 8:30 a.m. class on Sunday," she adds with a laugh.

"I have two bits of advice for people who say they hate aerobics. First, find a teacher you like. Second, try different types of classes. There's so much variety now," Gagnier says, "regular aerobics, low-impact aerobics that are easier on the body, weight training, stretching and walking classes.

"Variety is also good because by not doing the same exercises every day, you build endurance and strengthen different areas of the body," adds the 5-foot-3, 118-pound actress.

While she's careful about nutrition, Gagnier admits she wasn't always health-conscious. "I went through a phase when I had a very bad eating disorder," she recalls. "When I studied ballet, we used to practically starve ourselves."

Gagnier hopes the current national fitness explosion will continue to extend to more and more Americans, especially celebrities.

"Some people in the public eye forget what an impact they have on their fans," she says. "It kills me to see or read about people, especially those who kids look up to, repeatedly doing drugs, smoking or drinking alcohol in public.

"That's why sometimes I say to myself, 'I'm only one person, but maybe my exercise classes can be my opportunity to take what I'm doing to a higher level.'"

Soap fan lost in orbit over Collins' role

By Kimberly Redmond

I'd like to know if Kate Collins, the actress who portrays Natalie Hunter on "All My Children," also played Gomer Pyle's girlfriend in the series "Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C." — T.K., Glenwood, Iowa.

Kate Collins

No. Elizabeth MacRae portrayed Gomer's girlfriend, Lou Ann Poovie. Prior to joining "All My Children," Collins was primarily a stage actress, though she made brief appearances on "One Life to Live," "The Guiding Light," "Search for Tomorrow" and "Another World" before landing the role of Hunter. Collins is the daughter of former Astronaut Michael Collins, who piloted the Columbia on the Apollo XI mission for the first lunar landing in July, 1969.

Why isn't Julianna McCarthy seen on "The Young and the Restless" anymore? The actress played Liz Brooks. — E.F., Broad Channel, N.Y.

McCarthy is no longer a contract player on the CBS soap, although she has appeared on the show occasionally. The reason for her disappearance? There's been no story line for her character in the last few years.

Did Marcy Walker, the actress who plays Eden Cranston on "Santa Barbara," recently marry an actor who appears on "Capitol"? — C.C., Levittown, Pa.

On Nov. 2, 1985, Walker married Billy Warlock, whose character Ricky Driscoll was written off "Capitol" a little more than a year ago.

Denver is flying away to the New York stage

By Cindy Adams

John Denver is the latest music man tootling his way to the Great White Way. His Broadway show is based on the life of Will Rogers, and it's been in the planning stages for several years. Denver will star in the show — as well as compose, arrange and write its lyrics. "I'm also putting my own money into it," Denver says.

John Denver

"I'm going to be the co-producer." The singer's off to Australia for the summer before heading home to Colorado "for two days to sit by the stream and relax." Then he's off for a tour of Europe, before hitting the Big Apple by the end of the year. Rehearsals for the Rogers show should start in December. "I'm going to look for an apartment in New York," Denver says. "After all, we expect to be very successful. We plan on being on Broadway for a long time."

Dinah Shore

Dinah Shore finally made it back to her home in Tennessee. She received 1,200 letters written by children requesting she make a comeback. Dinah answered each epistle personally, then flew to Winchester — population 2,000. But 30,000 people turned out!

Steve Krantz is producing "Adieu Volodia," a 39-hour miniseries based on Simone Signoret's novel. At the same time, he's readying a miniseries based on "I'll Take Manhattan," the megahit written by his wife Judith Krantz. No grass ever grows under Steve's Gucci's.

FRIDAY

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

Arthur Kirkland (Al Pacino), a dedicated lawyer, is forced to defend both his clients and his own career in "... And Justice for All," airing on "The ABC Sunday Night Movie," Sunday, June 15.

CULINARY DELIGHTS like smoked salmon and liver pate in pastry were among the hors d'oeuvre and canapes served before the delectable main courses at the Culinary Arts Salon Monday evening at Will O' the Wisp. The Salon was prepared by 12 Maryland chefs, most of whom were local, under the direction of Chef Baron Galand. The "Baron" instructed the chefs in a two-day course and the results of their achievements were served to some 75 people. Galand is a world champion chef who worked with the chefs as part of the effort to enhance the Hotel/Restaurant management course at Garrett Community College.

A Night To Remember —

Chef Baron Galand's Arts Salon

by Pam Ashby

To my surprise and delight, my husband and I were invited to the Will O' the Wisp Monday evening to sample the culinary creations of 12 local chefs who had been instructed for two days of rigorous training by Baron H. Galand, C.E.C., executive chef.

I'm sure Dr. Nancy Priselac, the mastermind of the idea and dean of student affairs at Garrett Community College, requested my presence for some news coverage of the event. But after attending and thoroughly enjoying the evening I decided not to do a news story. "This deserves a feature," I thought to myself. For what I witnessed and tasted required adjectives and we simply do not employ many descriptive words in a news story.

The evening began with cocktails, champagne, canapes and hors d'oeuvres. This did not consist of cheese n' crackers, which is about the extent of my culinary achievements. Rather, there was a magnificent display of tasty morsels like sauteed crab-stuffed mushroom caps, liver pate in pastry, smoked salmon with sauce picante . . . to mention a few, and I do mean a few.

During that time of tasting tempting tidbits, we (approximately 75 people) were treated to live entertainment by a four-man jazz and swing combo consisting of Bill Rogers on drums; Pete Harper on bass; Ruel Pate on trumpet and George McDowell at the piano. Incidentally, it is interesting and impressive to note that Pete played with Duke Ellington and Ruel played with the Tommy Dorsey band.

Then it was on to dinner for one of the most palatable pleasures I've ever encountered.

The menu included: tossed garden greens, spring vegetables en gelee, macedoine of fresh fruit, pasta salad, steamship roast of beef, smoked sugar-cured mountain ham, stuffed breast of chicken Hawaiian, Polynesian chicken saute, fillet of flounder stuffed with Maryland crab and topped with sauce nantua, buttered broccoli, sauteed new cabbage, wild rice medley and ice cream bombe.

Everyone sampled nearly everything and everything was excellent . . . superb . . . unrivaled . . . and darn good.

Following dinner, the "Baron" commended the Maryland chefs for a job well done and presented them with certificates for successfully completing the 2-day course.

Those receiving certificates include: Byron Bowman, Robert Shahan and Doug McClive, Silver Tree Inn; Johnny Glotfelty, Point View Inn; Sam Butler, Andy Innacchione, Grantsville Holiday Inn; Kevin Hesalbach, Garrett Community College; Louis P. St. Marie, Au Petite Paris, Frostburg; Darrell Savage, Robert Moriarity, Will O' the Wisp; Wilber DeBelius, Red Run Inn; and Dorothy Beitzel, Nell's Restaurant, Martinsburg, W. Va.

Observers for the course were Martin Heise of Will O' the Wisp, and Sandra Nauman, adjunct professor of food and beverage preparation of GCC.

Chef Galand trained the local chefs and working restaurateurs in a two-day Culinary Arts Short Course.

Dr. Priselac, a close friend of the "Baron," coordinated the course with the assistance of Garrett Community College personnel, Silver Tree Inn, Grantsville Holiday Inn and Will O' the Wisp management.

"We feel we were successful in developing the Culinary Arts Pilot," said Dr. Priselac. "We hope to make this an annual event."

Dr. Priselac noted that the cost of the dinner ($20 a plate) did not go toward the purchase of the food. The proceeds will benefit a scholarship fund set up for the new Hotel/Restaurant Management Course at GCC.

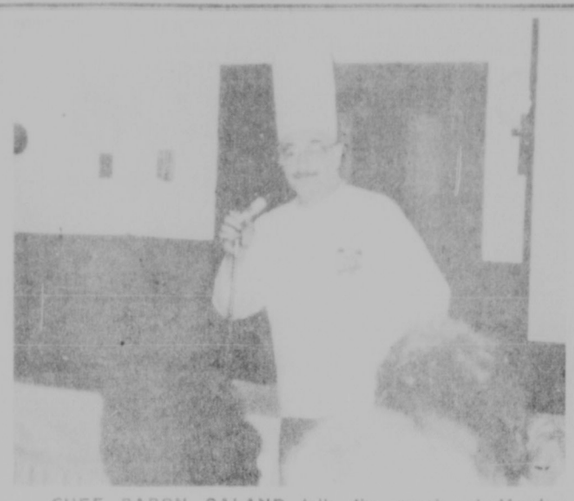
The food was donated through contributions by distributors in Maryland, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

Chef Galand coached the U.S. Culinary Olympic Team in 1980 at Frankfort, Germany. They won the gold medal that year for the hot food division. Then in 1984, the "Baron" served as counselor to the U.S. team., at which time they won gold medals in the hot and cold food divisions. Galand quipped, "France was so angry that we won, they refused to come back. It proves the U.S. can do something other than hot dogs and hamburgs. We do have great culinary potential here and the rest of the world loves us."

He continued, "At one time, the people in Europe said we were the rich Americans with no class. We continue to show that we do have class. Cuisine is here."

The "Baron" and his lovely wife were a delight. The world-renowned chef made a point to talk with everyone who had questions. He wanted to make sure the guests were happy. We were.

Indeed, we do have cuisine here, not just in the United States, but in Garrett County as well, thanks to our talented local chefs, the "Baron," Dr. Priselac and all those who had a hand in planning the Culinary Arts Salon. C'est magnifique.



CHEF BARON GALAND tells the guests at Monday evening's Culinary Arts Salon how the United States is making a name for itself around the world in food preparation. Chef Galand coached the 1980 U.S. Culinary Team to a gold medal victory in the hot food division and served as the 1984 team's counselor for gold medals in the hot and cold food divisions. "There is cuisine here," he stresses. "We can do more than just hot dogs and hamburgs."

Financial Planner Shares Expertise With Students

Robert P. Sharps, a Certified Financial Planner (CFP) with Butcher & Singer, Inc. introduced financial planning education to a class of Southern High School students through a specially designed curriculum.

Known as the High School Financial Planning Program, the new curriculum—the first of its kind ever developed—supplemented coursework for one of Robert E. Boal's 11th grade social studies classes. The program is part of a nationwide effort by the financial planning profession to provide young adults with much of the basic information and techniques necessary to cope with the strong economic pressures of today's changing society, Sharps said.

The program curriculum has been designed as a two-week intensive course that emphasizes such concepts as earning income, using credit, protecting against financial risks, investing, and planning to meet financial goals.

The High School Financial Planning Program was developed by the Denver-based College for Financial Planning. The College is an independent, nonprofit educational institution that offers to professionals in financial services a rigorous, two-year course of study leading to the designation of Certified Financial Planner (CFP). The College also sponsors workshops, seminars, and conferences on a variety of financial planning topics.

Southern was one of only 24 schools throughout the country selected to test the High School Financial Planning Program before it is made available nationwide. The program was offered as a community service by Sharps who is the Representative-in-charge of the Oakland Office of Butcher & Singer, Inc.

For additional information about the High School Financial Planning Program, persons may contact Sharps at (301) 334-1841, or the Continuing Education Department, College for Financial Planning, 9725 E. Hampden Avenue, Denver, CO 80231, (303) 755-7101.

Mathias Urges Reagan To Abide By Salt Treaty

Declaring that "there is no sound rationale" to justify violating the SALT II agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union, Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) has urged the President to continue compliance.

Mathias noted that opponents of compliance argue that the Soviets have violated two provisions of the agreement: building of the SS-25 missile which they allege violates the limits on new ICBMs, and excessive encryption of telemetry.

Mathias countered: "There has been much debate over whether or not the SS-25 is a technical violation of SALT II. But assuming that it is, let us note that the White House statement describes the small ICBM 'as an appropriate and proportionate U.S. response to the irreversible Soviet violation of the SS-25 mobile ICBM.'"

Mathias pointed out that many experts contend that the original agreement on encryption between the superpowers was ambiguous and should be renegotiated.

He continued: "If the small ICBM is the appropriate response to the alleged SS-25 violation, and renegotiation of an ambiguous provision is in order in the case of the second alleged violation, what demands a response as grave as abandoning the numerical limits on multiple warhead launchers?

"Such an aciton would not be an appropriate response to anything. It would be seen throughout the world as the unilateral American abandonment of one of the key provisions of arms control," Mathias reasoned.

"To call such unilateral action by the United States 'overkill' would be a graceless metaphor," Mathias emphasized.

While praising the President for continuing to comply with SALT II thus far, Mathias said abandonment of the agreement "could provoke a new escalation of the arms race and would certainly undermine our efforts to achieve deep reductions in the nuclear arsenals." Mathias further argued that the Soviet Union "may be better poised to engage in a freewheeling arms race than the United States.

"Both the Defense Department and the CIA estimate that the Soviets could deploy more than 5,000 additional warheads by 1990 and more than double the size of their existing arsenal to more than 20,000 wareheads by 1995. The United States does not have the capacity for such rapid expansion," Mathias added.

Concluded Mathias, "There would appear to be a span of several months before the date of finality about SALT II compliance. During that time, the President's advisors ought to discuss with him the fact that it is not only arms limitation that is at stake, but also the process of arms control."

She participated in special ceremonies that were held in St. Mary's and met the Duke and Duchess of Kent from England who also participated in the celebration. Mrs. Calderwood was also a leader in the activities held in Garrett County in Maryland's Jubilee Celebration. A brief discussion was held on Maryland's State Song involving how it came to be written, and a recent attempt to add several verses. "Maryland My Maryland" was sung before the meeting was adjourneyed.

The executive board will meet at the home of Mrs. James Hutchinson on Tuesday, June 17 at 7 p.m. to discuss fund-raisings, meeting dates, future programs and publication of the yearbook. The next regular meeting will be in September.

Mt. Top Library To Hold Summer Reading Club

"It's up, up and away with reading," says Karen Durst, librarian at the Allegheny Mt. Top Public Library, Mt. Storm, W. Va., as the Summer Reading Club gets underway with a mammoth balloon launch.

The Summer Reading Club will will begin Monday, June 16, for pre-school through 12th grade students.

Ms. Durst said the students would be placed in one of five reading age groups and be encouraged to read as many books as possible by August 15. Parents may read to pre-school and kindergarten children. She said the top reader in each group will receive a $10 gift certificate from the Book Mark'et in Oakland, to purchase the book of their choice. Second and third prizes will also be awarded and each participant will receive a reading certificate.

The Reading Club will officially begin on June 16 at 3 p.m. with a balloon launch at the Mount Storm Community Park, next to the library. The reader's balloons will be tracked and recorded throughout the summer. A gift certificate will be awarded to the person whose balloon travels the greatest distance.

Durst said the Reading Club would end on August 15 with prizes and certificates being given on Friday, August 22, at 2 p.m. "Friends of the Library," which sponsors the Reading Club, will provide refreshments to honor the readers.

Those interested in registering for the club may stop at the library or call 1-304-693-7504.

IRS Comments On Deductibility Of Contributions

Organizations to which contributions are deductible will often offer merchandise or sponsor theatrical events, dances, etc., in order to raise funds. Frequently such organizations have advised the public that the entire amount paid will qualify as a deductible charitable contribution. Such advice may be incorrect, according to the Baltimore District Office of the Internal Revenue Service.

The purchase of tickets and/or merchandise from such organizations is only deductible to the extent that the amount paid exceeds the fair market value of the merchandise or other benefit received. The fact that the entire proceeds will be used for charitable purposes is not a consideration. Likewise, use of terminology such as donation, gift, contribution, etc., by the soliciting organization will not alter the character of the payment, the IRS says.

The fact that purchased tickets or other privileges are not used by the purchaser does not increase the amount of the expenditure that can be classified as a charitable contribution. The test of deductibility is not whether the privilege is exercised but whether such privilege was accepted or rejected by the purchaser. A taxpayer wishing to support an organization, but with no intention of attending a fund raising event or of utilizing merchandise offered, should make an outright gift of the amount contributed and not accept any ticket or merchandise in return for the contribution. The entire contribution would then be classified as deductible.

Home Re-Sale Activity In Md. Expected To Rise

Existing-home sales in Maryland are expected to increase 5.9 percent this year from last year's level, according to the National Association of REALTORS® , latest state-by-state outlook for the economy and real estate.

The housing units in the NAR forecast include single-family homes, condominiums and co-operatives.

A total of 85,400 home resales are likely this year in Maryland, compared with 80,700 last year, the association's report said. In 1987, a 1.9 percent increase is expected in Maryland to 87,000 units.

Nationwide, the association forecasts that existing-home sales will total about 3.4 million this year, up 7 percent from 3.2 million last year. In 1987, a 1.1 percent increase to 3.5 million units is expected.

Single-family and multi-family housing starts in Maryland are expected to total 45,000 this year, up 6.7 percent from the 1985 total of 42,200, NAR econosmts predicted. In 1987, a 9.8 percent decrease to 40,600 starts is likely, they said.

Nationwide, a 12.2 percent increase to nearly 2 million housing starts is expected this year. However, in 1987, the yearly total is likely to slip about 2.5 percent from the projected 1986 level to 1.9 million units, according to association analysts.

The National Association of REALTORS® , the nation's largest trade association, represents more than 700,000 members involved in all aspects of the real estate industry. The Maryland Association of Realtors, Maryland's largest trade association, represents 20,000 members involved in all aspects of the real estate industry.

Pennsylvania Dairymen Are Milking Three Times A Day—And Liking It

by Bernice Kepple

Milking three times a day is a management tool useful to dairymen who have enough labor available for the extra milking plus the field work and all the other regular farm work which must be done.

This extra labor is needed because of the short amount of time between the end of one milking and the start of the next. Also, because the mid-day milking is scheduled at a time when field work is normally done. Having that extra help in charge of one milking each day will also prevent the "I never want to see another cow again" syndrome which could be suffered by one man working alone.

Those milking three times a day generally like it, although they admit it took some time to get used to the schedule. Several farmers in Somerset County, Pennsylvania, told of their experiences since they've been milking three times daily, and offered their thoughts on any possible benefits resulting from the change.

The farmers who shared their thoughts included: Jim Wilco and Keith Walters, who farm together near Berlin and started milking three times a day this past winter; John Will of North View Farm, also near Berlin, who has milked three times daily for a year; Glenn Moyer of Friedens, has been milking his herd three times daily for six years; Bill Hunsberger, of Davidsville, has milked three times daily for five years; and Philip Beachy, whose farm straddles the Maryland/Pennsylvania line between Grantsville and Salisbury, has milked three times a day for a year and a half.

The most common schedule used by these dairymen involves milking at 5 a.m., 1 p.m., and 9 p.m., or eight-hour intervals. This schedule was hard to get used to at first, several of them said. "We love it," said Beachy, "it gives us more time. With someone to do the third milking, I'm free to be with the family or do some other farm work when the afternoon milking is over."

In the Will family, the three brothers, with their sons to help them, take turns milking the night shift a week at a time. "It's nice milking the night shift," John Will said. "I get to sleep longer in the mornings, and we get more Sundays off now than when we milked twice a day."

None of the farmers knew exactly what, if any, increase in production resulted from the extra milking because of other changes made at the same time, but one felt that a 12-percent increase was within reason.

Moyer says his 35 to 40 head have fluctuated between a 20,000 to 24,200 pound herd average the last two or three years due to a change in feed. The dairyman has been working away from corn silage and feeding all haylage. In the future he plans to convert his whole farm to some sort of hay crop and use rotational grazing also.

He remembers that when he started milking three times a day his herd average was 18,000 pounds. During the first 12 months on the new program, his herd showed a 3,600 pound increase, bringing his herd average up to 21,600 pounds of milk, a 15 or 16 percent jump.

Wilco and Walters say they have no definate results to show at this time because their cows have been freshening steadily and also because they've changed feed. But they say they have noticed a drop in mastitis, and although no rapid change in production was noticed, it has been climbing.

"There are a lot of benefits you can't see in production records," said Will, who also noted a lower somatic cell count with less mastitis since he began milking his 105-cow herd three times a day. "Just being around the cows more makes a difference," said Hunsberger. Aside from being able to detect mastitis better, he says a cow's heat cycle can be detected quicker and she can be bred back easier and more profitably.

All agreed unanimously that the program's greatest benefit was seen with first-calf heifers. Hunsberger explained that the heifers have the ability to make a lot of milk, but don't have the udder capacity to store it until they are more mature. "Milking these heifers more often means their udders will last longer and they will produce more milk," he said. Hunsberger used as an example quite a few of his own heifers who are milking over 100 pounds a day.

Beachy told of a California report showing heifers peaking 20 percent higher. He and the others stated that the difference is not as noticeable in older cows. "But the lactation curve stays up higher, longer," said Beachy, "with cows milking 100 pounds a day for six or seven months."

These dairymen also make use of several other management tools. One tool important to them all is the Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA). Having their herds tested provides them with complete records they can use to analyze individual cow's, as well as the whole herd's, milk, butterfat, and protein production.

Several of them use feed analysis and a dairy nutrition consultant to improve their production. "I've learned a lot in the last three or four years through the nutritionist's work with my feeding program," said Moyer.

"I wouldn't have believed it," said Will, "but working with my dairy nutritionist and changing my feeding program has been very successful. He told us to set a goal and we decided we wanted to hit a 20,000 pound average. We did that in January, and now our average is 22,842. We've set a new goal for ourselves; we'd like to hit 800 pounds of butterfat."

Another tool two of these dairymen use are automatic take-off units for their pipeline milkers. "I was real skeptical at first," Hunsberger said, "but now I wouldn't be without them. They are very consistent and do a good job."

"In my opinion," said Will, "the automatic take-offs give the younger generation a chance to help without the worry of any damage to the cows." Using automatic take-offs, it takes fewer hands to get the milking done.

Although proving to be very beneficial as a management tool to some, milking three times a day may never fit into the management plan of all dairymen. "Help is the key to the whole thing; phychologically as well as physically," Moyer concluded.

"My cows responded to three times a day," Will said. "If it wouldn't have been for that response, I wouldn't have changed."

Hunsberger said he believes that, "It doesn't pay to start milking three times a day until you've reached 18,000 pounds milking twice a day, and genetics and nutrition can bring a herd to that. We've found it to be a way to become more efficient with what we had."

"We'll keep doing it as long as it's doing a good job," said Beachy. "I don't, in any way, want to change back again."

Automatic Take-Off Units Make One-Man Operations More Efficient

Automatic take-off units for milking machines are being used by dairymen milking three times a day and by one-man dairy operations. They enable the young, inexperienced helper learn to milk properly because he's not taking the milker off too soon or leaving it on too long, and helps the farmer working alone run more units efficiently.

Pictured above, John Will of Berlin, Pa., demonstrates a DeLaval Auto Cord. These automatic take-off units make it possible for one man to use four milking machines. "They give the younger generation a chance to help without the worry of any damage to the cows," Will said.

The units are regulated by milk flow. When milk stops flowing through the plastic receiver, it signals the automatic take-off unit to remove the milker from the cow. This is accomplished by a nylon cord attached to the milker, activated by a vacuum cylinder.

It can be used manually as well as automaticly for those cows that have one quarter which milks out slower. Farmers who use them say one of the hardest things to learn about its use is to let the milker and the cow alone. The milker will do a proper job by itself, they say.

Although expensive, they let one operator run more units efficiently because he doesn't have to be there when the milker is done. He needn't worry about two milkers finishing at the same time and one irritating the cow while he removes the other one. It's off and waiting to be put on another cow at his convenience.

Some felt it would be impossible to milk three times a day without the units because they can run more milkers with less help. It's not necessary to go to the barn with an army anymore.

The Dairy Industry Has Played A Big Role In The History Of America

The dairy industry began with the discovery of milk and its development is woven throughout the pages of history. From early days to the present, the cow has continued to be the servant of many, and her importance as a food source has not diminished.

The domestication of cattle occurred between 6,000 and 10,000 years ago. Men probably hunted them as wild animals prior to this time.

The oldest written record of the human race is the Sanskrit of ancient India, which dates back 6,000 years. It indicates that milk had already become a popular food. In fact, the cow was so important in these early times, that wealth was often measured in terms of the number of cattle a person owned.

The first settlers in the New World made the mistake of not bringing cows with them. The Mayflower carried no cattle, which resulted in lack of suitable food, especially milk. This caused the ship's death rate to be very high. This mistake was recognized and afterwards one cow and two goats were brought over for every six people on the ship.

Records indicate that the very first cows arrived in America at Jamestown, Virginia, in 1609. Later, as pioneers pushed toward the West, they remembered the lesson of the early settlers and always traveled with two or three cows following their wagons.

Very few changes took place in milk production or in the manufacturing of milk products in the years following the settlement of Jamestown. Most of the population lived on farms or in small villages, with each family dependent upon its cows for milk. As long as the pasture was good, there was an abundance of milk. But during the winter, the supply was limited.

Keeping cows within city limits presented difficulties as these towns became large population centers. Feed supplies had to be shipped from the country, and city ordinances regarding dairy barns became more restrictive. Generally, farmers within driving distance began delivering milk over regular city routes. The milk had to be produced within a few miles of where it was consumed because of the lack of suitable transportation and refrigeration.

The middle of the nineteenth century marked the start of the dairy industry as we know it today, with development of the modern dairy industry having occurred within the last 30 years.

Several developments contributed to the formation of today's dairy industry. Most notable among them were: the factory system which allowed milk and milk products to be processed in large quantities at points throughout the land; improved machinery to milk cows, process milk, and package it for consumer use; modern transportation, which made it possible for milk to be shipped across great distances; and refrigeration, which allowed milk and milk products to be stored and transported for longer periods while retaining their fresh flavor.

Milk processing technology has also undergone significant changes during the past few decades. Today milk is pasteurized, homogenized, and vitamin A is added to increase its nutri-

The Calcium Debate: Natural Foods Versus Supplements

Consumers no longer question the need to increase their calcium consumption. The publicity surrounding osteoporosis, the brittle bone disease, has opened the public's eyes to the need for more calcium in the diet.

Now consumers want to know whether they should eat calcium-rich foods, or rely on supplements to do the job.

According to the American Society for Bone and Mineral Research, the most effective way to increase consumption of this important mineral is by eating foods such as milk and milk products. Nutrients such as lactose and vitamin D, prominent in dairy foods, help the body absorb calcium.

Milk and milk products provide 72 percent of the calcium in the nation's food supply. The National Academy of Science's Food and Nutrition Board has established the Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) of calcium to be 800 mgs. per day for women. A woman would only have to drink one eight-ounce glass of milk for every meal to meet her RDA for calcium naturally.

A major problem with supplements is that the calcium amount varies. Some pills, for example, contain only 40 percent calcium, so that a woman would have to take three each day to meet her RDA.

Labelling of these products can also be deceptive. Not all supplements provide the actual amount of calcium per dose.

Consumers should also be aware that calcium supplements such as dolomite and bone meal can contain lead or mercury, elements which can be potentially toxic to the body.

Experts agree that natural foods such as milk and milk products are the best sources of calcium. Consult a doctor for a list of foods which are high in calcium and can easily be included in the daily diet.

New Dairy Recipe Leaflet Available

Some Slaughter Dates Shifting Under "Buyout"

Dairy producers who have requested new slaughter dates under USDA's Dairy Termination Program will be notified by June 13 if their request has been accepted. Under the program, producers will receive payments for stopping milk production and selling their dairy herds for slaughter or export. In a change to the program, USDA had solicited requests from participants to shift the scheduled slaughter of their herds from the program's first contracted disposal period to its second or third.

"We're allowing this modification in disposal for some producers because of an agreement reached recently with the National Cattlemen's Association and other beef-industry interests following their lawsuit," said Olin S. Davis Jr., chairperson, Maryland State ASC Committee.

As a result of the agreement with the beef interests, ASCS gathered additional data from the dairy producers on their slaughter and export intentions. USDA recently published the summary of this survey and Davis said that in many cases the slaughtering intentions do show sharp increases this August and at the end of the other disposal periods. For example, dairy termination participants say they intend to slaughter a total of 229,000 head of dairy cows, heifers, and calves this August, according to Davis.

The first disposal period runs from April 1 through August 31. The second period is September 1, 1986, through February 28, 1987. The third is March 1 through August 31, 1987.

Davis cautioned that, in spite of this change in slaughtering schedule for some, there will be no changes in final slaughter or export dates: "The Secretary of Agriculture has said these dates are firm and won't be extended because of slaughter capacity or related problems. We're urging producers to plan well in advance for the disposal of their dairy cattle, because failing to meet the deadline could cost the loss of their program benefits, plus a penalty."

Tips For Vegetable Gardeners

—Flea Beetles can be controlled very easily with an application of the insecticide called Sevin. Tomatoes and Potatoes are two of the Flea Beetles' favorite foods. Symptoms are small tiny holes in the plants' leaves. When you touch the plant, very small black beetles will jump.

—Spray your tomato plants every 7-10 days for blight control. Maneb and Manzate 200 are two good fungicides for blight control.

—Did you know that plants near Japanese Beetle traps are likely to be more severely damaged by Japanese Beetles than if the traps were not being used. Investigators in Kentucky discovered that only about half of the beetles approaching a trap were captured on their first approach. The beetles that got away landed on nearby plants which attracted more beetles to these plants.

—Wireworms in radishes can easily be controlled by in-furrow treatment with Diazinon.

Weed Control in Alfalfa

Sinbar and Paraquat can be used for weed control after cutting your alfalfa (established). Sinbar 80WP at 0.5 to 1.5 lbs./acre will give control of Chickweed, Henbit, Peppergrass, Shepherdspurse, Yellow Rocket, Seedling Dandelions, Crabgrass, Foxtail, Fall Panicum and Lambsquarter. Application must be made before regrowth of alfalfa exceeds two inches. Paraquat CL at one pint per acre will give control of annual grasses and many broadleaf weeds. Must be applied within 5 days after cutting.

Bruceton Farm Service Plans Annual Meeting

The Southern States Cooperative local annual membership meeting for Bruceton Farm Service, Inc., Fratz Division, will be held July 22. This decision was made by the manager and some local farmer-members at a recent annual planning committee meeting held June 4.

This year's annual meeting will feature reports on operations of both Southern States Cooperative and the local dealership. How the cooperative is part of the farmer's "growing team" (comprised of both the co-op's employee force and each of its owner-members) will be emphasized, as well as how Southern States itself is growing. The regional farm cooperative recently expanded into its sixth state—North Carolina.

In addition there will be elections, or reports on elections, and other business matters at the session.

Attending the planning committee meeting were Harry Wolfe, manager of Bruceton Farm Service, Inc., Fratz Division, and David A. Nuzum, a member of the Southern States regional office staff at Clarksburg, W.Va.

Also at the session were the following members of the local board and Farm Home Advisory Committee: Paul D. Miller of Accident, and Mrs. Dennis Margroff of Accident.

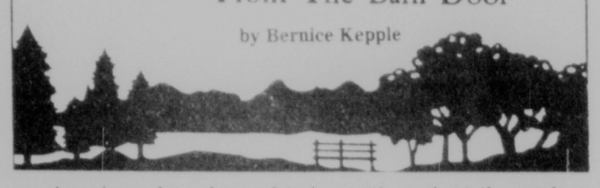
My View

From The Barn Door

by Bernice Kepple



Americans have learned to be cautious about the products they buy. Shoppers are taking time to examine goods before taking them home to their families. Grocery store purchases are no exception. With thousands of food items to choose from, the average consumer must carefully balance cost, nutritional value, and product safety.

Consumers have a right to be concerned about food safety. First, there was the tampering with a popular pain killer—not once, but twice. Baby food products have been found to contain glass shards. These are only a few of the product contaminations which have been in the news this year.

The dairy industry has also experienced its share of product problems. As with any food from an animal source, there are opportunities for contamination.

However, the dairy industry is sensitive to food safety, and has worked long and hard to insure that the milk and milk products made available to consumers in retail outlets across the U.S. meet high quality standards and are safe for consumption.

Product quality control begins at the dairy farm where strict sanitary conditions are followed. Once fresh milk is removed from the cow it's not touched by human hands again, but begins a journey in refrigerated, sanitary tanks, tubes, and pipes. Before it leaves the farm, the milk is sampled to insure a quality product. The milk is tested again at the dairy processing plant. Samples are taken during processing, after processing, and in random checks of grocery stores and other retail outlets.

Many of these quality checks are conducted by the dairy farmer and his producer organizations. But a host of local, state, and national governmental agencies including departments of agriculture, health departments, and the Federal Drug Administration (FDA), constantly monitor all steps of milk production and processing.

The dairy industry is one of the most regulated of all U.S. food production segments. Milk and milk products are constantly tested, inspected, and monitored to insure that consumers receive a high quality, safe food.

Because of human error, mishaps can happen. But through extensive testing and safety programs implemented by today's dairy industry, most problems are detected before the product goes to market.

Because of these precautions, shoppers need not worry when they shop for milk and milk products. America's dairy farm families stand behind their products, and are diligent in their efforts to provide the safest, highest quality milk and milk products in the world.

Crop Planting Is On Schedule, Dryness Continues In State

Farmers had planted 97 percent of Maryland's corn crop as of June 1, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Last year at this time 99 percent of the corn was planted and a five-year average is 93 percent.

Sweet corn was 85 percent planted by the end of last week compared to 100 percent a year ago and an average of 91 percent over the past five years. Seed germination and weed control have been problems in the corn crop this spring due to the dry weather, and some farmers have started replanting while others are waiting for precipitation before replanting.

The first cutting of alfalfa hay was 88 percent complete by the end of May compared to 82 percent in 1985 at this time and 54 percent over the past five years. The first cutting of hay other than alfalfa was 46 percent complete by the end of the week compared to 62 percent a year ago and an average of 32 percent.

Topsoil and subsoil moisture were in very short to short supply throughout most of Maryland. Allegany and Garrett counties were the exceptions to the very short moisture situation with soil moisture in short to mostly adequate supply.

According to the Palmer Drought Severity Index, the Southern and Central Eastern Shore, Southern Delaware, and the Lower Southern division west of the Chesapeake Bay remained in a severe drought in spite of the much needed rain during the week ended May 24. The Northern Eastern Shore, Northern Delaware, and the Upper Southern division of Maryland remained in a moderate drought while the North Central division of Maryland fell from the high range of moderate drought to the low range of severe drought. Far Western Maryland divisions either improved or remained unchanged from the previous week in the mild drought index.

The amount of rainfall necessary to relieve the drought ranges from 6.5 to 8.7 inches in all but extreme Western Maryland where 2.8 to 4.1 inches are needed.

Weather for the week ending May 30 was dry with only light showers in the extreme west. Precipitation averaged 0.03 inch for the state. Extreme western Maryland is the only portion of the state that received any measurable rainfall, ranging from 0.03 to 0.31 inches. Temperatures averaged near normal to three-degrees above normal. High temperatures were mostly in the upper 80's to low 90's.

Over $8 Million Is Allocated For Cost-Sharing

Governor Harry Hughes announced last week that $8.5 million from the state bond sale tentatively scheduled for June 25 will go toward funding the Maryland Agricultural Cost-Share Program (MACS). Funding sources for the program had been threatened recently by proposed federal tax legislation.

MACS provides farmers with financial assistance to install eligible conservation practices to protect water quality. Proposed federal legislation may restrict the use of tax-exempt state bonds to fund the MACS program and other Bay cleanup programs.

Governor Hughes, working closely with Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley, Jr. has been diligently monitoring the status of the proposed federal tax reform legislation. Last week Governor Hughes announced the state's decision to hold a June bond sale from which $8.5 million would be allocated to MACS.

MACS helps farmers address a 1983 EPA Chesapeake Bay Study implicating agriculture as a nonpoint source of pollution. Farmers may receive a maximum of 87.5 percent towards the cost of installing eligible conservation practices. Conservation practices protect water quality by preventing the movement of soil, nutrients or pollutants off the farm.

The $8.5 million will be immediately applied to assisting the 755 farmers with pending applications and future applicants to MACS. To date farmers have completed the installation of over 1,650 conservation practices receiving $3.8 million from MACS. Currently over 3,100 applications have been approved as eligible for close to $8 million in cost-share for the installation of conservation practices.

More information about MACS may be obtained by contacting the Garrett Soil Conservation District at 334-1905.

Bovine TB Reappears In U.S.

The United States Department of Agriculture is advising cattle and dairy producers not to become complacent about bovine tuberculosis. USDA officials say that although the incidence of the disease has been reduced dramatically since its peak earlier in this century, recent figures show bovine tuberculosis is reappearing in several states around the country.

"Too many farmers believe tuberculosis in cattle has been eradicated," says Bert W. Hawkins, administrator of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Center. "Bovine tuberculosis will be a threat to dairy and beef livestock until the last infected herd has been eliminated."

In 1985, according to Hawkins, 30 tuberculous-infected herds, the largest number reported since 1976, were detected in eight states. From 1980 through 1984, an average of only 10 infected herds were found each year nationwide.

Three states, North Carolina, Virginia and New Mexico, last year lost their USDA accreditation as bovine tuberculosis-free. A state loses such accreditation if two of more herds are found within its borders within a four-year period. Other infected herds were detected last year in Hawaii, Kansas, Louisiana, Ohio and Texas.

"If the number of TB-infected cattle herds continues to increase," warns Hawkins, "the future looks bleak for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis from the United States."

Near the beginning of this century, bovine tuberculosis was the biggest livestock disease in the country, infecting one in every 20 head of cattle, stated Hawkins. USDA helped launch an assault on the disease in 1917 with the establishment of the Cooperative State-Federal Bovine Tuberculosis Eradication Program. Systematic testing in each state began in 1924. When an area of country was found to have fewer than one-half of one percent infected animals, it was declared "modified accredited tuberculosis free."

By 1940, all states had achieved modified-accredited status. Cattle producers began to believe the costly disease may have been eradicated.

"But many made the mistake of thinking the disease had been conquered once and for all," says Hawkins. "Producers forgot about the need to continue testing."

In the early 1960's, USDA instituted a national slaughter-surveillance traceback program for cattle tuberculosis and brucellosis. This program, in which animals exhibiting tuberculosis lesions at slaughter plants are traced to their herds of origin, is today the primary means for detecting infected herds.

Because bovine tuberculosis can have a long incubation period, says Hawkins, a cow purchased today with a latent infection can eventually become a reservior of infection to other animals even if it shows no signs of the disease. Clinical symptoms may not appear until up to 10 years after initial infection.

"Owners should continue to have their live cattle tested for tuberculosis," Hawkins advises. "It is the most effective way to detect the disease in its early stages, and it is an important tool in controlling the disease given today's practice of mass movement of cattle."

Hawkins urges every cattle producer to follow four steps to prevent further spread of bovine tuberculosis:

(1) Have dairy or beef breeding herds tested for TB periodically by an accredited veterinarian.

(2) Insist on a negative tuberculin test before buying a replacement animal.

(3) Isolate every new replacement animal for 60 days, and have the animal retested for tuberculosis at the end of this period.

(4) Make certain all animals sold to slaughter are properly backtagged. If tuberculosis is detected at slaughter, an immediate traceback to the herd of origin will be possible.

"While these procedures may be time-consuming," says Hawkins, "cattle producers should think of them as protecting their income and investment."

Dairy Industry

tional value, flavor, quality, and storage life. Milk production has improved over the years to the point where the United States has the highest quality milk in the world. From the time it leaves the cow until it reaches the consumer, milk is never touched by human hands. This closed system insures that the milk is sanitary and safe.

The increase in population and demand has opened the way for expansion in the marketing of milk and milk products. Dairy cooperatives have been organized by dairy farmers to meet the needs of changing market conditions and to help them in their daily milk production and marketing tasks.

Research and scientific development has led to new feeding and breeding techniques, new products, and has brought the nutritional value of milk and milk products to the consumer's attention. Because of these scientific innovations, fewer dairy cows are needed to keep pace with consumer demand for high quality milk and milk products.

With an increasing U.S. and world population, it is becoming more and more important that the dairy industry develop new production and marketing techniques. But the significance of the dairy industry goes far beyond the milk it produces. The dairy industry has always been a major taxpayer, employer, and economic force for our nation.

The dairy industry continues to improve technology and production techniques which allow us to enjoy high quality milk and milk products. This ensures an adequate supply of high quality milk and milk products is available to meet the daily consumption needs of U.S. consumers at reasonable prices.

Today, just as in 1609 when the first cow came to Jamestown, milk and milk products and the dairy industry help keep America strong.

Entomologist Says To Fight Spider Mites With Oil—Not Chemicals

Spider mites just love hot, dry weather. So this spring has been a good one for those pesky, microscopic critters which can literally suck plant leaves to death.

With 12 major species common in Maryland, there's virtually no kind of ornamental and vegetable plant safe from attack, notes John A. Davidson, an extension entomologist at the University of Maryland in College Park.

Usually less than 1/50 of an inch in length, mites are difficult so see with the human eye. But the damage they cause to growing plants can be severe, Dr. Davidson says.

As they feed, spider mites suck the green chlorophyll out of plant leaves. This causes small white dots to appear. Mites also appear to inject toxins into plant leaves, causing varying degrees of leaf discoloration and distortion.

If you have access to a sprayer, the temptation is to load it up with a suitable pesticide and spray every ornamental and vegetable plant in sight. But wait! You may end up doing more harm than good in the long run, Dr. Davidson warns. Why?

Because indiscriminate spraying with chemicals also kills the predator insects and other tiny creatures which feed on mites and help to keep them under control. Upsetting the balance of nature by killing off their natural enemies could then allow mites to multiply far faster than jackrabbits in Australia.

What's the answer? Consider one or both of these possibilities: 1. Examine the undersides of plant leaves weekly with a magnifying glass to check for mites and mite damage. If you don't have a magnifying glass, simply tap two or three leaves—or a small branch tip—against a sheet of white paper. Look for dislodged mites crawling on the paper. If you see five or more, consider spraying.

2. Instead of a chemical spray, try an oil spray. This can be very effective against mites and other soft-bodied, sucking pests. But it has a minimal effect on predators and parasites of these pests. Just make sure that plants are not drought-stressed at the time that you apply the oil spray.

Dr. Davidson admits that many persons—including some horticulture professionals—are reluctant to use an oil spray in the summertime. This is mainly because horticultural oils have been considered primarily as dormant sprays ever since their introduction in the early 1900s.

It's true that oil sprays for many years were heavy and contained impurities. This meant they dried slowly and turned plant leaves brown. But today's horticultural oils are much different, Davidson says. They are so light that they dry in an hour or so. And they contain few, if any, impurities. So they are no more harmful to the foliage of most plants than the insecticides formulated in petroleum carriers that are called emulsifiable concentrates.

While the recommended application rate for dormant sprays is three gallons of oil per 100 gallons of dilute spray, the University of Maryland specialist suggests using only two gallons of oil per 100 gallons of dilute spray during the growing season.

For further information, check with the Garrett County Extension Service at 334-1330. Free copies of two appropriate leaflets authored or co-authored by Dr. Davidson are available. One is titled "Spider Mites," and the other is "Horticultural Oil Sprays."

Gregory Receives Safety Award

Harold L. Gregory, above right, has been named as Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls State Parks "Safe Employee of the Month for May", according to Denny Shaffer, park safety officer, pictured left. In recognition of Gregory's accomplishment and in support of the park's safety promotion effort, the Oakland Pizza Hut has presented him with a gift certificate good for any large pizza of his choice.

According to Shaffer, Gregory was selected for the award as a result of his safe work habits, leadership in the area of safety, and for his accident/injury free employment record.

Gregory was graduated from Southern High school in 1966 and has completed courses in electrical, carpentry, and stone masonry at Garrett County Community College. Prior to his employment with the Maryland Forest, Park & Wildlife Service, he was employed by Mettiki Coal Company as a dryer operator and he performed a wide range of maintainance duties on mine equipment. He resides with his family at Route 3, Oakland.

Maryland One Of Three States To Receive Award

The Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada awarded the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting to the State of Maryland and presented State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein an Award for Financial Reporting Achievement.

According to the Government Finance Officers Association, which made the presentations in connection with the comptroller's Fiscal Year 1985 Comprehensive Annual Financial Report, "the certificate is the highest form of recognition in the area of governmental accounting and financial reporting, and its attainment represents a significant accomplishment."

Goldstein noted that Maryland remains one of only three states to hold the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting. The other two states are Tennessee and Illinois.

"Maryland has received this award each year since the publication of our Fiscal Year 1980 financial report," Goldstein stated. "Our uniqueness in receiving the Certificate is important to our financial credibility as we work to maintain Maryland's triple A general obligation bond rating. That bond rating saves our taxpayers millions of dollars in interest costs each time we sell bonds."

In making the award, the Government Finance Officers Association said the report, "has been judged by an impartial panel to meet the high standards of the program including demonstrating a constructive 'spirit of full disclosure' ".

Goldstein said Maryland's leadership among the states in accounting and financial reporting has been a priority of his office which continues to pay dividends to the state's taxpayers.

Bloomington Honor Students Designated

The staff of Bloomington School has named eight students to the honor roll for the final grading period. Those students achieved an 80 percent or better average in each subject, according to Gary Galloway, principal.

Sixth graders on the honor roll were Cindy Tichnell and Jennifer Gaster. Seventh graders listed were Battina McCrobie, Joyce Murphy (all A's), Tina Tichnell, and Marcie Wildman. Eight graders gaining honor roll recognition were Kathy Carder and Carol Metz.

Fire Marshal Issues Warning About Fireworks

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele has announced a crackdown on the possession and use of illegal fireworks in the state.

As the Independence Day holiday approaches, many Marylanders make special efforts to stock up on fireworks of all kinds, he said. These efforts include trips to nearby states to purchase fireworks where they are legal, and recently, buying fireworks through various out-of-state mail order catalog fireworks companies. But as the desire for the private possession and use of fireworks escalates among Maryland citizens, Gabriele says he has some words of advice—"Fireworks are Illegal in Maryland."

According to Gabriele, Marylanders should remember that only gold label sparklers are allowed for possession and use in the state, except in Prince George's and Montgomery counties, and the City of Baltimore, where all types of fireworks, including sparklers, are illegal.

In a concerned effort to stop the flow of illegal fireworks into the state from other areas such as Ohio, Virginia, and Kansas, the State Fire Marshal's Office, acting on the advice of the Attorney General's Office, has notified several common carrier parcel delivery companies that shipping or transporting fireworks into the State of Maryland from other states or countries is illegal. Shipments of fireworks by common commercial carriers are, therefore, subject to seizure by the state, according to Gabriele.

In two recent incidents, contraband fireworks were being shipped to private citizens in Baltimore and St. Mary's Counties, respectively, when they were intercepted and confiscated by Baltimore County Police in the first incident, and the State Fire Marshal's Office in St. Mary's County.

In the month preceding July 4, 1985, the State Fire Marshal's Office, working in conjunction with other law enforcement agencies, confiscated and later destroyed more than two million pieces of illegal fireworks. During that time, approximately $250,000 worth of fireworks were taken into custody in a single joint raid in Baltimore County.

If a person is found in possession of or using illegal fireworks anywhere in the state, the fireworks may be confiscated by the State Fire Marshal's Office or any other law enforcement agency, and the individual charged with violation of state statutes. The fine for the possession or use of fireworks is $250, while a person who is found selling or distributing fireworks in the State of Maryland may be fined $1,000.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son, Garry Lee Sweitzer

I'll lend you for a little while a child of mine, He said. For you to love the while he's here and mourn for when he's dead.

It may be six or seven years or twenty two or three. But will you, until I call him back, take care of him for me. I cannot promise he will stay since all from earth return. But there are lessons taught down there I want this child to learn.

I've looked the wide world over in my search for teachers true and from the throngs that crowd life's lanes I have selected you.

I fancied that I heard them say "Dear Lord Thy Will Be Done" for all the joy thy child shall bring.

The risk of grief we'll run, we'll shelter him with tenderness, we'll love him while we may, and for the happiness we've known forever grateful stay.

But should the angels call for him much sooner than we planned, we'll brave the bitter grief that comes and try to understand.

We'll never forget you.

IN MEMORIAM

A Father's Day tribute to the memory of Charles Rush.

There's a place in heaven that's marked "Reserved," for fathers such as he who lived life-long devotion to his wife and family. And there's a place in our hearts marked that way too. Where his dear memory will be loved as he was loved before eternity.

So dearly loved and so sadly missed.

By his wife, children, and grandchildren

Oakland Rotary To Host Student From Equador

Hernan Pena will be arriving in Oakland in mid-August to spend his senior year of high school as a participant in the Rotary International Youth Exchange Program, according to a spokesman from the Oakland Rotary Club.

Hernan is an 18-year-old boy whose father is a business manager and whose mother is a government employee living in Quito, the capital city of Equador, said a spokesman.

Three families from the Oakland vicinity will be selected as hosts for Hernan. He will be living in each of the households approximately three months.

"To my hosts, I would like to give them the best I can, try to enjoy with them the routine of life and discover together what is new for my host family, and what is new for me too," Hernan said.

From his guidance counselor, Hernan is described as " . . . studying in the very demanding physics-math program. He has always demonstrated a very high level of motivation and ability in all subjects, but most especially in the Math-Science area. He is a responsible student, respected by his teachers for his capability and maturity.

"Hernan is friendly and outgoing. He adapts well to new situations and new people. He is eager for the challenge of the exchange program academically as well as socially," the counselor continued.

Although Spanish is his native language, Hernan has studied English for 9 years and spent 2 years in the United States, said the spokesman.

Families interested in hosting Hernan for a three-month period may obtain more information by contacting Richard Peake at 387-6205, or any other member of the Oakland Rotary Club. The selection of host families will occur about mid-July, according to the spokesman.

The Garrett County Agency on Aging held a graduation ceremony for Home Repair students on June 4 at the Oakland Senior Center, according to Vernon Leighton, training coordinator for the center.

The students, all of whom are 55 or older, spent nine weeks studying advanced repair techniques for the Maryland Home improvement exam, said Leighton. "Once they complete the necessary requirements, they will be licensed by the state to perform basic home improvements," he continued.

The students were: James Casteel, John Dragoo, George Foy, Paul Friend, Virgil Hanlin, Clay Uphold and Charles Walters.

Charles J. Powles and Hank Seifert instructed the class in building stairways, hanging siding and other home improvement skills.

Leighton concluded, "We look at these seniors as special; they are still eager to learn and still eager to work."

Some of the students should be licensed within the next few months.

Other local seniors were in attendance at the graduation ceremony.

Goldstein Notes June 16 Deadline For Taxpayers

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reminded the 220,000 taxpayers who pay their state income taxes in quarterly estimated installments that their second quarter payments are due Monday, June 16.

"The normal June 15th deadline falls on a Sunday, so the due date is extended to the next business day," Goldstein explained.

The 220,000 taxpayers who make estimated tax payments earn income on which there is no withholding by an employer. Maryland law requires those individuals to estimate and pay their taxes on a quarterly basis if the income tax liability is more than $100,000.

VALUE OF HOME OWNERSHIP

If you ask me why you should buy a home, I can give you three sound reasons:

STABLE HOUSING COSTS: There is no sure way of telling how high rent will be in the future, but you can surely bet it will continue to rise. Depending upon the type of mortgage a homeowner selects, monthly payments can remain fixed—or at least predictable—over the life of the loan.

EQUITY BUILDUP: Once rent money is spent, it's gone forever. However, each monthly mortgage payment reduces the amount owed on the loan while building up equity (dollar ownership) on the property.

INCREASED VALUE: Here's the big one. Most goods lose value with age and use. Home values, on the other hand, have a long history of increasing faster than the rate of inflation. That increase is on the entire amount of the value, including the mortgaged portion. On top of that, homeowners have the best tax breaks going and will continue to do so into the foreseeable future.

Pleasant Valley Youth Drowns In Broadford Lake

Funeral services will be held Friday morning for a 15-year-old Pleasant Valley boy drowned Monday evening while wading with friends at Broadford Lake.

According to reports of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, Galen Ray Kauffman was at the beach area of Broadford Park with two friends at about 8:45 p.m. The three began wading in the water and suddenly the Kauffman youth, who was apparently ahead of the other two, went out too far and the water was over his head. His companions reported that he came up once and yelled for help, however the two panicked and were unable to assist him. All three were reportedly poor swimmers.

Responding to the scene were the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, MSP, Garrett County Sheriff's Department, and DNR Police. Approximately a dozen persons, mostly OVFD firefighters, entered the water and began to search for Kauffman. They discovered his body at about 9:20 p.m. in seven to eight feet of water in the swimming area.

Oakland firefighters lifted the youth into a boat and CPR was begun immediately. Kauffman was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, however resuscitation efforts were unsuccessful and he was pronounced dead at the hospital.

Born in Oakland on May 8, 1971, he was a son of Alpha A. Kauffman and Frennie (Yoder) Kauffman.

He had been working with his family at the Pleasant Valley Greenhouse.

Surviving besides his parents are a sister, Anna Kauffman, at home; paternal grandparents, Alvin Kauffman and Annie (York) Kauffman, Dover, Del., and maternal grandparents, John Yoder and Barbara

Vehicle Mishap Claims Life Of Germantown Man

A Germantown man was killed and two Grantsville residents injured in a vehicle accident which occurred Saturday afternoon on U.S. Route 219 in front of the Deep Creek Fire Hall, McHenry.

Thomas William Wilt, 54, died as the result of the three-vehicle accident. Mrs. Virginia Merrbach was admitted to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, and later released, according to a hospital spokesman. Her daughter, Jean Marie Merrbach, was treated and released at that hospital following the mishap.

According to State Police reports, Kenneth R. Fazenbaker, Accident, was driving a pickup truck which was northbound on Route 219 and towing a van operated by Merrbach. The two vehicles were connected by a chain.

Police said Wilt, who was traveling south, crossed the center line, sideswiped the pickup truck, and struck the van headon.

Born July 8, 1931 in Baltimore, Mr. Wilt was a son of the late Harry Edward Wilt and Violet M. (Manspeaker) Wilt.

Mr. Wilt was employed as a quality audit technician for the Weinschel Electric Company of Gaithersburg. A veteran of the U.S. Army and U.S. Air Force, he served from 1948 to 1955. He was a member of the St. Martin's Catholic Church, Gaithersburg; American Legion at Martinsburg, W.Va.; and the Knights of Pythias Lodge 123 at Gaithersburg.

Surviving are his wife, Margaret "Peggy" (Geatz) Wilt; two half-brothers, John Wilt, Baltimore; and Edward Wilt, Charles Town, W.Va.

Friends were received at the George-Upchurch Funeral Home.

Gregory Calls Lake Clean-Up "Great Success"

Representatives of the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association, the Deep Creek Lake Businessmen's Association and the Department of Natural Resources noted their appreciation to all property owners and volunteers who participated in the clean-up of Deep Creek Lake on June 7 and 8. According to Michael Gregory, lake manager, many landowners around the lake made definite efforts to remove barrels and old dock sections from the Penelec buffer strip in front of their properties. "These efforts have greatly improved the visual beauty of the shoreline in many areas of the lake. During the Sunday pickup, over 1,000 barrels or drums were removed from the buffer strip area and hauled by county and state trucks as well as numerous volunteer pickup trucks," Gregory said.

Gregory noted that the Garrett County Commissioners and Paul Shockey and Allen Lewis of the Garrett County Roads Department were "instrumental" in providing county roads vehicles to compact and haul barrels and debris from

GCC Trustees Vote To Stay In Oakland Center One More Year

The Garrett Community College Board of Trustees voted unanimously Tuesday evening at its regular meeting to remain at the Oakland Center of GCC one more year and to study long-range plans for an Oakland campus during that time.

According to Trustees' chairman, Katharine L. Smith, the decision came after the Board received additional information on the Center Street School building which houses the Oakland campus.

SBHE Meeting

Smith informed the Board that her meeting with Richard Kline and the State Board for Higher Education (SBHE) held recently in Annapolis was "very productive," in that the SBHE recommended that approval status be extended from June until November.

She stressed that it was just a formality since GCC did not receive its final draft report with recommendations from the SBHE accreditation team until May 14. Draft reports are normally received by colleges in March.

SBHE officials agreed there was not ample time to respond to the draft report by June 3. Smith also noted that Kline felt it would be appropriate to extend GCC's accreditation status until the new president had time to review the SBHE draft report and recommendations.

Dean of Student Affairs, Dr. Nancy J. Priselac, informed Smith that she was glad to have the matter brought to the public's attention through the local media, since the initial account of the story had been misleading to prospective students who felt there was the possibility that GCC would no longer be an accredited school.

Kline, chairman of SBHE, said recently that GCC is not in danger of losing its accreditation status and offered his full support in working with the college to keep it "a vital educational institution in Garrett County."

SBCC Meeting

Chairman Smith then reported on a recent meeting with the State Board for Community Colleges (SBCC) held at Harper Community College in Bel Air. She was accompanied by John Culp, GCC comptroller, and Jim Murray, auditor for the college.

It was determined at that meeting that GCC had corrected some material weaknesses in the budget. Smith said the weaknesses had been rectified months ago and that Murray had confirmed that fact to the SBCC.

Due to the absence of Dr. David A. Puzzuoli, the interim president who is on vacation, the president's report was given by Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of

Board Of Education Withdraws Decision To Close Yoder School

The May 8 decision of the Garrett County Board of Education to close Yoder School at the end of the 1989-90 school year was withdrawn last Thursday at the board's monthly public meeting.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Superintendent of Schools, made the recommendation because of "procedural inadequacies in arriving at the decision."

Ryscavage said the board used a version of the state by-law which was effective August 2, 1982. However, the by-law was revised August 26, 1985, and Ryscavage did not have a copy of the revised law. Therefore, the board's attorney advised them to withdraw the decision.

Ryscavage said the board would have to reconsider the whole issue in accordance with the by-law if they still wished to close the school.

Other issues discussed at the meeting included the status of the Northern High School renovation project.

The board was asked by the contractor to accept approximately 12 to 13 rooms as substantially completed. However, the board did not accept the request, and asked the contractors to do still more work on the rooms.

A resolution was passed thanking all the bus drivers for their work over the past year. Ryscavage said he felt the resolution was particularly appropriate this year with the split-shifting schedule in the northern end of the county.

A report was made on a survey which was taken concerning the success of the split-shifting. The survey was given to students, staff, and parents. Ryscavage said the overall results were very positive, and he feels the schedule was successful.

Other items of discussion included the possible expansion of the food service satelliting program, a report on "Project Impact", and a report on the

Second Series Of Spring Rabies Clinics Scheduled

Dr. William W. Pope, Garrett County health officer, recently announced the second series of spring rabies clinics to be held at various locations throughout the area next week. The schedule for the clinics is as follows:

Monday, June 23, Deer Park Fire Hall, 5-6 p.m.; Tuesday, June 24, Friendsville Fire Hall, 5-6 p.m.; Wednesday, June 25, Garrett Community College, 5-6 p.m.; and Thursday, June 26, Oakland Armory, 5-6 p.m.

Dr. Pope stressed the need for area residents to make sure their dog's and cat's rabies immunizations are current. There have been four reported cases of rabies in wildlife thus far in 1986 over a wide geographical area of Garrett County.

The current eqizootic of rabies which the state of Maryland and surrounding areas has been experiencing continues to be a very serious problem in Garrett County emphasizing the need for continued vigilance on the part of area residents in vaccinating their pets against this disease. Vaccination is the most effective measure which can be taken to prevent the spread of rabies to the human population.

At the May rabies clinic only 360 animals were vaccinated. Dr. Pope noted concern that this was a major decline in the number of animals vaccinated during the first round of clinics at a time when the problem remains as serious as ever. It is hoped that residents will take advantage of next week's low-cost clinics to bring their pet vaccinations up to date.

The cost per animal will be $3. Dogs should be on a leash under the control of a responsible person. Cats should be brought to the clinic in escape-proof boxes or cages.

James H. Fries Win $1.2 Million In Lotto Game

James H. Fries, who lives on King-Wildesen Road off Route 560 near Gorman, was the lucky winner of $1,219,237 in the Maryland Lotto game on Saturday. His winning numbers (3-15-19-24-32-33) were random, machine-picked numbers.

Mr. Fries' daughter, Rose, purchased two $1 tickets for her father from Donna Lambka, an employee at Midway Discount Liquors in Oakland. After hearing that there was a local winner, Rose called her father to see what his number was—and told him that was the winning number!

"I didn't get excited," Mr. Fries said. "I guess I just couldn't believe it. I kept as calm as can be; it just didn't seem real."

Mr. Fries said he hasn't had time to make many plans for the money, but is considering a different home, maybe a better car, and he would like to pay some bills. "I just want to be free to live a good life," the winner said.

The lotto prize is worth $60,237 now and $61,000 a year for the next 19 years. Mr. Fries, who is retired, traveled to Baltimore today to have his ticket approved.

A total of 254 players hit five of six numbers to win $1,069. Another 9,906 players hit four of six numbers to collect $35.

Bond Hearing Held Thursday For Sarver, White

A new bond hearing was held last week for Donna Lynn White, 26, and Bruce Allen Sarver, 29, who were indicted Wednesday by the Grand Jury for Garrett County with homicide in the death of four-year-old Brandy White.

Sarver's bond was increased from $100,000 to $150,000, while White's remained at $100,000.

The grand jury indictment charged each with felonious homicide, child abuse, and assault and battery.

The child was allegedly beaten in her home near Bloomington on or about May 17, and was flown to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland. She was removed from life support systems by court decision after it was determined she was brain dead.

Senator Charles McC. Mathias To Speak At Public Interest Program

The Honorable Charles McC. Mathias, United States Senator, will be the speaker at the first of the Summer Public Interest Programs to be held in Garrett County next month. This program has been scheduled for Wednesday, July 2, at 8 p.m. in the Garrett Community College auditorium in McHenry.

Mathias, who served in the House of Representatives for eight years and in the Senate for the past 18 years, has announced his intention to retire at the end of this current term in January 1987. In his appearance here, he plans to give highlights of his Congressional career that has spanned the administrations of six different presidents, and to discuss some of the ethical concerns of present day lawmakers.

Mathias is currently serving as chairman of the Committee on Rules and Administration, and he also serves on three other major committees: Foreign Relations, Judiciary and Governmental Affairs. He is vice chairman of the Congressional Joint Committee on the Library of Congress, and chairman of the Joint Committee on printing.

As chairman of the Rules Committee, Senator Mathias oversees the Senate's internal administration and operating procedures, as well as the Federal Elections Commission and laws governing campaign finance. As a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, Mathias plays a central role in Congressional efforts to control the spread of nuclear weapons.

In October, 1985, Mathias was unanimously elected president of the North Atlantic assembly, composed of members of legislative bodies of NATO countries, the first U.S. senator to be elected to that position.

His strong interest in historic preservation led him to play an

Commissioners Drop Tax Rate Again; Give Education Board Full Request

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners announced Tuesday the tax rate for fiscal year 1987 and outlined the completed budget for the coming year noting that they have given $6 million to the Board of Education. The new tax rate is once again lower and has been set at $2.31 per assessed $100 plus an additional $.05 special fire department levy, bringing the total to $2.36, one cent lower than the constant yield rate and $.16 lower than last year's rate.

Commissioner John Braskey commented on the new rate, "It has been difficult making up this budget, but we feel it is a fair one. We feel we are giving the people in Garrett County the services they deserve."

"A reasonable tax rate is important to attract new businesses to Garrett County," said Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr.

Commssioner Elwood Groves II stated, "We felt it was important to lower the tax rate again this year. We have been able to exert downward pressure on the tax rate now for the fourth year and still maintain the level of services expected by the residents of this county."

The operating budget for the upcoming fiscal year was approved at $13,116,500. Capital expenditures will up that total to $13,950,000.

Of the total budget, education will expend half of it with the Garrett County Board of Education receiving $6,000,000 and Garrett Community College receiving $565,000.

John Morris, assistant superintendent of administrative services, and Albert Ringer, assistant superintendent of instruction and curriculum, both from the Board of Education, were present at the budget adoption hearing Tuesday and were visibly pleased with the commssioners' allocation to their department. They both thanked the commissioners for approving the budget they had submitted.

Ringer stated, "If I'm not mistaken, this is the first time in 25 years we've been given the amount for which we requested. On behalf of the Board of Education and Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of Garrett County schools, we would like to extend to you our appreciation and our thanks for approving the budget as it was presented to you."

Commissioner Braskey stated that he felt the budget submitted by the Board of Education was one of the fairest he has ever seen.

The commissioners said they felt compelled to hold the line on GCC's budget in view of the recent controversy surrounding the college. They all agreed several months ago they would not increase the college's budget until many of the problems were "cleared up" at that institution. This is the third year the college has received the same amount, $565,000, although they requested more.

Public works received $3,671,000, representing 27.9% of the budget. The Garrett County Roads Department, Solid Waste and Sanitation all fall under that heading of local government.

General government which includes the commissioners, court system, treasurer's office, States Attorney, planning, zoning, election board, maintenance and the Promotion Council, received 7.4% of the budget which totals $966,000.

Public safety was next in line and received $824,500, representing 6.3% of the total budget. Sheriff's department, jail facilities, Emergency Management, fire departments and animal shelter all fall into that category.

Employment benefits and miscellaneous which includes retirement, insurance and employee taxes took a 4.6% chunk of the budget or $601,500.

Public health, under the head-

Annual Pow Wow Slated July 12-13 At Fairgrounds

The Annual American Indian Pow Wow sponsored by the American Indian Inter-Tribal Cultural Organization will be held July 12-13 at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry. Tribes of Native Americans from throughout the United States are expected to participate.

The gates will open at 9 a.m. on both days and events will continue into the evening hours. The public is invited to attend and observe Native American Indian ceremonies, songs, dances, and activities. Native American arts and crafts as well as a variety of food items will also be offered. Admission is free for children under 12 and $3.00 for adults.

According to a spokesman for the Cultural Organizations, the word "pow wow" originates from a word used by the Narragansett Indians of the Eastern Seaboard Algonquians. It has evolved to mean a gathering where Indians dance and sing. Drummers and singers provide the music for the dance which is the most important part of the pow wow. Some of the dances included the Gourd Dance, Men's Straight or Traditional Dance, Snake Dance, Buffalo Dance, Hoop Dance and many others. There will be competitive as well as exhibition and inter-tribual dancing at the pow wow. The head dancers this year are Mitchell Bush and LaVonna Weller.

The public events begin at 9 a.m. on Saturday, with an invocation, flag raising ceremony, and veterans' songs. The craft demonstration will feature the raising of a lodge at 11 a.m. and dancing will begin after the Grand Entry at 1 p.m. and will continue into the evening.

Sunday's events will involve more of the same with a few exceptions. Announcement of the winners of the competitive dance events will begin at approximately 3:30 p.m. with prizes being presented at this time. A raffle will be held at this time also. At 6 p.m. the flag will be retired and the evening dancing will commence and continue into the evening as permitted by weather and lighting.

Vendor space is available to display and sell Native American Indian crafts. For more information about vendor space, persons may contact Larry Sparks, AIITCO, Twinbrook Station, P.O. Box 775, Rockville, MD 20851; (301) 946-0018.

For more information about the Pow Wow, persons may call Vincent Mikolainis at (703) 451-8617 after 5 p.m.

Two Friendsville Men Found Guilty Of Theft Charges

Judge Jack Turney ordered pre-sentence investigations for two young Friendsville men during a trial held last week in Garrett County District Court.

The two men, Gerald A. Frazee and Keith A. House, both 19, were charged in connection with several thefts which occurred in the Friendsville area in May.

Frazee was found to be guilty of seven counts of theft. Three charges of breaking and stealing were nolle prosequi due to a plea agreement.

The judge found House to be guilty of four theft charges. Three counts of breaking and stealing were nolle prosequi because of a plea agreement.

The charges for both men were filed by Tpr. Michael S. Hegedus following thefts at the Third Base Lounge, Friendsville Toy and Gift Shop, and The Auto Center.

Frazee was also charged with the theft of various items from three vehicles in Friendsville. Three counts of theft filed by Sgt. Robert E. Friend were placed on the stet docket, and involved various thefts at the Mill Run Camping area.

Frazee was represented by John R. Toston, public defender. House was represented by Oakland attorney Michael Morrissette.

In another case, Vaughn W. Sweitzer, 22, Accident, was sentenced to six months in the Garrett County Jail for a handgun violation. The judge then suspended the sentence, placing Sweitzer on 12 months supervised probation.

A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered for Sweitzer after trial held April 29.

The charge was filed by Oakland police officer Randy L. Hoffman following a March 9 incident in Oakland when, according to court reports, a handgun was found in Sweitzer's vehicle.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Adam E. Berman, 22, Morgantown, W.Va. for a charge of theft.

Berman pled guilty to the charge, which was filed by Tfc. David W. Broadwater, Maryland State Police, following a February 9 incident in the Friendsville area.

According to court records, Berman had been stopped for speeding and was driving a 1985 Nissan which had been stolen from a car dealer in Washington, D.C.

The judge also ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Kenneth W. Titchenell, 19, Friendsville, after finding him to be guilty of three counts of theft.

Titchenell pled guilty to the charges which were filed by Sgt. Robert E. Friend, MSP, following a May 8 incident at the Mill Run Camping area, Friendsville.

According to court records, fishing tackle, rods and reels, and tackle boxes were stolen from the area.

Titchenell was represented by Toston.

A pre-sentence investigation was also ordered for Gary W. Wilson, 20, Aurora, W.Va., after the judge found him to be guilty of hindering arrest. A charge of disturbing the peace was nolle prosequi.

The charges were filed by deputy William C. Thomas, Garrett County Sheriff's Department following a May 13 incident in Oakland.

According to court documents, Thomas "obstructed and hindered a police officer in the performance of his duties."

The judge ordered probation before judgment for Stephen J. Baer, 23, and Robert J. Dunn, 31, both of Frostburg, for an illegal lottery charge.

The charge was filed by Tpr. Jon B. Dudiak, MSP, in connection with an incident which occurred in March.

According to Dudiak, the two men held an illegal lottery with 50-50 chances, claiming it was to benefit the Eastern Garrett County Volunteer Fire Company. However, Dudiak says the men did not have the consent of the company.

Jimmy D. Beeman, Kitzmiller, was found to be not guilty of a charge of malicious destruction of the property of another.

The charge was filed by James D. Brady, also of Kitzmiller, following an April 17 incident there.

Beeman was represented by Robert E. Watson.

Placed on the stet docket was a bad check charge against Willard Ashby, 27, Oakland.

To assist in transporting children, the organizers are arranging that the Fourth Street entrance to St. Paul's will be set aside for reserved parking for parents of VCS students. Also, Battista noted that it is being requested that all children up to second grade remain in the church pews at the closing each day until a parent or older sibling takes charge of them.

As in the past, canned food offerings will be presented to the House of Hope and the offering from the school will be donated to Hospice of Garrett County and Habitat for Humanity.

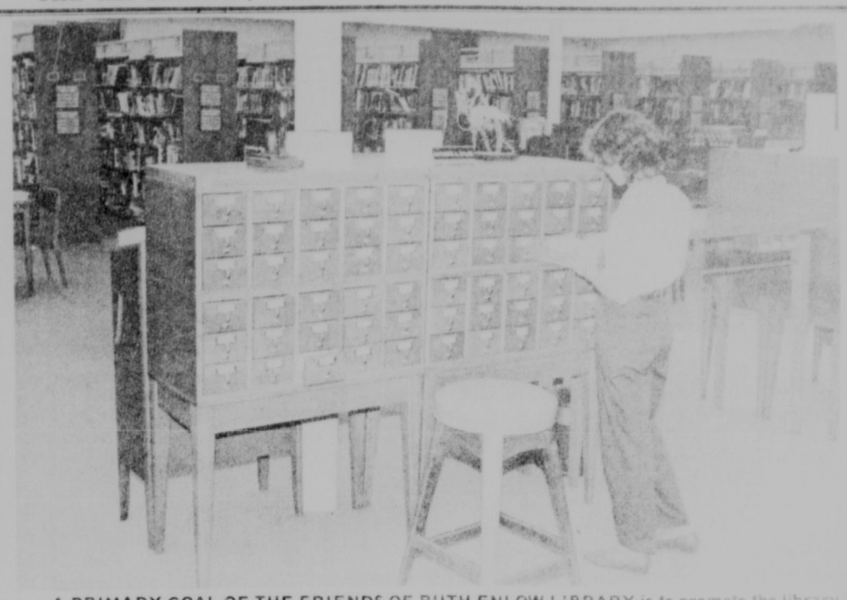
GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS John Braskey, Ernest Gregg and Elwood Groves take a break Tuesday at the Ruth Enlow Library after purchasing t-shirts on sale by Friends of Ruth Enlow Library. Other items being sold to raise operating funds for the new organization include sweatshirts, tote bags and pens, all bearing the Friends' logo. Later in the day, the commissioners released the new fiscal year budget in which they granted the Ruth Enlow Library its full request from the county.



A PRIMARY GOAL OF THE FRIENDS OF RUTH ENLOW LIBRARY is to promote the library and its needs as well as assist the library in maintaining and expanding its services. Those who use the library locate books they desire in the library's extensive card file, above, where also can be discovered many of the selections which can be obtained through interlibrary loan. A count in 1985 revealed that the library has a collection of 70,000 books, 195 periodical subscriptions, 38 art prints, 3,285 phonorecords and cassettes, 170 8mm films and 210 filmstrips. One of the newest services at the libary is the loan of videocassettes, both from the library's collection or through interlibrary network. Below, Edith Brock, head librarian, shows one of the videocassettes to a library patron.

Friends Of Ruth Enlow Library Week To Stress Membership

A group of Garrett Countians is offering what they believe to be an enriching friendship to all other residents in Garrett County and surrounding areas.

The group, called the Friends of Ruth Enlow Library, has set the week of June 22-28 as Friends of Ruth Enlow Library Week. The main purpose of the week is to begin a membership drive for the new volunteer organization, which has the primary goal of assisting the library in maintaining as well as expanding its services to the community.

"We who have initiated the formation of this group believe it will not only benefit the library, but also will enrich us and our families by providing us a continued opportunity to borrow books, records, videocassettes and countless other materials as well as take advantageof its valuable services and programs," says Sybilla Sharps, one of the group organizers.

Three key activities during the week will be an organizational meeting on Friday, June 27, the beginning of a drive to gain members and the sale of various items bearing the Friend's logo.

The organizational meeting will be held at the McHenry Campus of Garrett Community College in Room 010 (near the auditorium) with a time for fellowship at 7:30 p.m. when refreshments will be served. The business meeting, to begin at 8 p.m., will include ratification of the constitution and election of the 12-member Board of Directors.

A nominating committee has proposed members to the board, however nominations will also be accepted from the membership during the meeting.

Copies of the proposed constitution are available for inspection at the main library in Oakland and at all library branches. Branches of the library are located in Grantsville, Accident, Friendsville, Finzel and Kitzmiller.

Also available at the library and its branches will be a variety of items for sale, such as sweatshirts, t-shirts, tote bags and pens, all bearing the Friends' logo.

Information on membership can also be obtained at the library.

Proceeds from membership dues and the sale of merchandise will be used by the Friends organization in its efforts to promote the library.

Mrs. Sharps envisions the group undertaking projects to promote awareness of the library's services and needs; to encourage contributions to the library; to inform the public of ways to help the library and of issues affecting the library; and to sponsor cultural and fund-raising activities in the community to benefit the library.

"Any who have used the library, realize what an asset it is to all areas of our county," notes Mrs. Sharps. "We hope all of these people will support our efforts in some way, particularly through membership or participation in activities and contributions of time or money."

"In Case You Wondered" . . .

Q.: Who are the Friends of the Library?

A.: The Friends of the Library is a national organization designed to assist libraries throughout the United States in maintaining and expanding their services. A Garrett County group is now organizing for this purpose and needs members. Although an affiliation exists with the national organization, local groups are independent and determine their own activities and programs.

Q.: Why are the Friends needed?

A.: Our libraries do an outstanding job in meeting our needs for quality information, materials, programs and services. Yet, increased costs, limited resources and budget cuts threaten the continued quality of our libraries. As one example in five years, the cost of books has risen an average of 70 percent per volume.

Q.: What services are offered at our libraries?

A.: In addition to circulation of books and magazines at the main library and its five branch libraries (located in Accident, Grantsville, Friendsville, Finzel and Kitzmiller) and through the bookmobile, the Ruth Enlow Library offers the following services:

Circulation of art prints, phonorecords, cassettes, films, filmstrips, books on cassettes, jigsaw puzzles and videocassettes both from the library's collection or through interlibrary loan; reference service which includes census schedules and The Republican on microfilm; a photocopier and computer/software available for public use; loan of projectors and screens; arts and crafts exhibits; bulletin boards; a section for the Garrett County Historical Society books; programs for the community; and special services to children and for the handicapped as well as to such institutions as the nursing homes, correctional institutions and the hospital.

Tax Rate

ing of Garrett County Health Department, was given $256,000 which represents 2.0% of the annual budget.

A total of $232,500 was alloted to culture, economic opportunity and public service. Falling into that category are soil conservation, the extension service, the library, Community Action and development.

The commissioners noted that they had given the senior citizens program 40% more than they had requested.

"We applaud the senior citizens program for trying to hold down their requests this year, but we also feel this is a very worthwhile program and we don't want to see any of the senior centers closed," said Braskey.

The commissioners stated that although the tax rate has been reduced, it may not be reflected on some residents' tax bills this year, due to the fact the state reassesses properties every few years causing real estate taxes to be higher.

Tax Differential

Also Tuesday, the commissioners stated that the municipality of Mtn. Lake Park has officially requested a tax differential. They further stated that it has not yet been determined if that town is entitled to a differential. They said the issue is still being negotiated.

Commissioner Gregg noted that if Mtn. Lake Park is indeed entitled to a tax differential, it will receive a cash sum for the amount agreed upon.

Supplemental Levies

Finally, the commissioners announced the supplemental levy for special taxes.

Budget figures indicated that the ad valorem tax for Sanitary District One will be $.10 for the Mtn. Lake Park/Loch Lynn Sanitary District, and $.51 for that same area's water district.

Kitzmiller Water Sanitary District residents will pay a special tax of $1.20 while a $.77 tax will be imposed on those in the Kitzmiller Sewer Sanitary District.

Deep Creek Lake Sewer Sanitary District citizens will pay a special $.12 tax, and an ad valorem tax of $.43 cents will fall on the shoulders of residents in the Bloomington Sanitary District.

More detailed information on the county department's budget requests will appear in next week's edition of The Republican.
